RUMANIA 'PURGES' PRO-NAZIS

HOLLAND AND BELGIUM SEEN BATTLEFIELD

War Correspondent Who Saw It, Says No Army Can Break Through French Front.

TIME IMPORTANT TO NAZIS

Claims Time for Attack Will Depend on When Germans Can Repair Units.

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
(INS Staff Correspondent)

PARIS—As a result of two days' observation on the western front and in areas to the rear, I am convinced that when the Germans attack they will strike through Holland or Belgium.

No army can break through the French front.

A German drive there would result in the greatest slaughter in the history of mankind and the most catastrophic debacle in military annals.

The only question in my mind is when will the attack occur?

Can the Germans repair the mechanized divisions used in Poland sufficiently and quickly enough to hurl them westward before the wet season has set in this year?

Will Be Used First.

Much depends upon this because a mechanized attack will feature at least the early phases of this war. The mechanized experiments of Spain were confirmed in Poland.

The system used in Poland was generally this:

The Germans first sent over observation planes. These were followed by light bombers which bombed reserves in the rear. Then bursts of artillery—carefully observe that these were bursts and not the old-fashioned and extremely expensive barrages of artillery—then tanks and assault cars followed by infantry whose

Clarke Returns As News-Journal Advertising Head

John M. (Jack) Clarke returned to Mansfield today to assume the post of advertising manager of The News-Journal.

He fills the vacancy caused by the unexpected death last Sunday of John A. Plumb, who had been advertising manager for the past three years.

Clarke returns to Mansfield from Lorain, where he has been connected with the advertising department of the Lorain Journal, sister paper of The News-Journal.

He was connected with the old Mansfield News from 1926 to 1932, and was advertising manager of The News-Journal after the consolidation of the News and the Journal until he went to Lorain in 1933.

Before coming to Mansfield in 1926 he had been connected with the advertising department of the Akron Beacon-Journal, and was national advertising manager of the Cincinnati Post and the Cleveland Press.

VOTE ASSURED?

Bigelow Files 162,700 More Signatures For Pensions.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A vote at the November election on the proposal for a $50 a month pension to persons over 60 years old apparently became assured today when the sponsor, former Congressman Herbert S. Bigelow, Cincinnati, filed 162,734 additional signatures with Secretary of State Earl Griffith.

Petitions previously filed by Bigelow were short 67,795 names.

Knickerbocker Sees Possible Split Between Hitler and Stalin Over Murder of Calinescu

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

LONDON — The fantastically melodramatic murder of Premier Armand Calinescu of Rumania was revealed today as an event of the very highest international political significance with implications which enabled professional observers to hope for the first time that Stalin and Hitler might quarrel over Rumania.

Details of the background of the assassination now indicate its meaning was far deeper than the fact that it was a Gestapo murder to remove an anti-German premier.

The most important thing about the murder was its timing.

As an International News Service informant put it, Calinescu could have been killed at any time.

He refused guards and went everywhere, dining publicly in restaurants and cafes constantly in peril for his life.

But he was spared until now.

Why?

Partly because German extinction of Poland brought the Rumanian question into the forefront for Germany. But beyond that is the most important fact that Calinescu was very friendly with the Russians and because just now his Turkish friend, Foreign Minister Saradjoglu, was about to arrive in Moscow to negotiate largely in behalf of Rumania a Black sea pact among Russia, Rumania and Turkey and eventually Bulgaria.

This pact was inspired specifically by the fear in all these countries that Germany intended to drive clear through Rumania to the Black sea and none of them wanted to see German power on the shores of the inland ocean, which means as much to them as the Mediterranean does, say, to France.

Kills Thousands In Revenge for Premier's Death

Exacts Heavy Blood Price From Iron Guard For Assassination; Actual Killers of Premier Executed, Bodies Left Lying In Street.

(By Associated Press)

BUCHAREST—Thousands were reported executed today as Rumania's virtual military dictatorship exacted a heavy blood-price from the pro-Nazi Iron Guard for the assassination of Premier Armand Calinescu.

Reliable sources said thousands of members of the outlawed Iron Guard had been taken from concentration camps throughout the country and shot to death to avenge yesterday's killing of the premier, who was an implacable foe of the guard.

These sources also said that some women had been shot.

It was announced officially that 44 Iron Guardists were executed at the Merkurea-Ciuk concentration camp while 32 were shot by firing squads at Prahova.

Mass executions were said to be continuing.

Reliable sources said a minimum of three Iron Guard members were being taken from each of Rumania's 72 administrative districts for the firing squads.

The whirlwind cleanup of alleged pro-Nazi elements was pushed also with widespread arrests by the quick-acting government.

At the head of the government stood Gen. George Argesanu, "tough disciplinarian" of 56 and a friend of Calinescu.

Calinescu, advocate of closer economic co-operation with Great Britain and France, was shot to death in his automobile by a masked band, allegedly members of the pro-Nazi iron guard, on a main Bucharest street yesterday.

Eight iron guardists, whose outlawed organization Calinescu fought, were executed publicly as a consequence of the assassination and King Carol has taken swift, extreme measures to thwart any possibility of a coup.

All night long, morbidly curious crowds swarmed in the street where the bodies lay sprawled on the bloody pavement.

The eight of them lay just where they had fallen from a firing squad's bullets—at the exact spot where the premier was slain. As the shots rang out and the men toppled over one by one, a loud cry went up from thousands of witnesses, men, women and children.

Called "Public Example."

A short time after that an official announcement called a "public example" to all "who would follow the iron guard," police tossed into the macabre scene the bodies of two others who were said to have committed suicide after barricading themselves in a Bucharest mansion.

As dawn cast an eerie light over the death spot, the crowd turned toward the Rumanian Atheneum where the body of Calinescu will lie in state until an impressive funeral planned for Sunday.

In a trembling voice, King Carol read to the crown council last night the testament in which the assassinated premier begged his son to think of the "honorable name I inherited from my father" and asked that his body be carried "in a

Sings As Home Town's Honored

For Major Edward Bowes it may have been just another broadcast in his years of work, but for Miss Helen Dickson, 256 Wood street, (left) who represented her home city last night on the coast-to-coast hook-up, it was the thrill of a life time. Miss Dickson, employed in the office of the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company, sang "A Heart That's Free" on the Bowes program which honored Mansfield last night. The picture, taken last night, was sent from New York to Toledo by air express, and by rail express from Toledo to Mansfield.

Millions 'Listen In' as Major Salutes Mansfield

A vast radio audience estimated in the millions heard Major Edward Bowes salute Mansfield last night as a "city of great natural beauty" and "frankly industrial" on his regular Columbia broadcast over a coast-to-coast hook-up.

They heard, too, the voice of Miss Helen Dickson, 256 Wood street, Mansfield coloratura soprano, who represented her home city on the program which honored it.

In the same manner in which he has saluted most of the important cities of the nation Major Bowes last night paid tribute to Mansfield.

Traces City's History.

"In the north central section of Ohio—on the last hills of the Appalachian Highlands — our Chrysler Motorcade pauses to salute the city of Mansfield, capital of Richland county," he said in opening.

"Fifty years after the first westward wave of migration from New England and Pennsylvania, Mansfield was laid out and surveyed by James

WIN 'DOG FIGHT'

British Score Air Victory for First Time in West.

LONDON—(AP)—A British government announcement today described a victory for royal air force planes on the western front for the first time in the 1939 European war.

A ministry of information communique said "during the course of air operations on Wednesday, Sept. 20, one German fighter was shot down by our aircraft in France."

SENATE FORCES DIG IN FOR HOT EMBARGO FIGHT

Opponents of Change Organize as President's Backers Predict Victory.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Two determined senatorial factions began digging in today for a conclusive battle over President Roosevelt's renewed appeal to scrap the arms embargo and substitute a "cash and carry" system under international law.

Led by 73-year-old Hiram Johnson (R-Calif.), 24 senators quickly organized a bloc to oppose the sale of arms to warring nations, on the ground that it would be likely to force the United States into the European conflict.

Senator LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.), speaking for the group, said it would fight repeal of the embargo "from hell to breakfast." Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) added that the opponents believed they could muster 35 or 37 votes and hoped to increase their strength during debate.

On the other hand, confidence of ultimate victory was expressed by supporters of the president, who included some Republicans and "old line" Democrats as well as New Dealers.

Arrange Strategy Meetings.

Hailing Mr. Roosevelt's solemn speech to congress yesterday as charting the safest course for the nation in the present emergency, they arranged strategy conferences at the White House and the capitol.

Their aim, leaders said, is to limit the session to neutrality re-

ARMY ENLISTS

U. S. Uses Posters, Movies in Call for 48,000 Troops.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Employing new posters, movie films and other advertising devices, the army has opened a drive to recruit 48,198 men by the end of November.

This unprecedented peacetime total includes the 17,000 increase in troop strength recently ordered by President Roosevelt, along with nearly twice that number being sought as the regular autumn enlistment quota.

By the end of June, 1940, if objectives are reached, the regular army will number 227,000 men, including 6,400 Philippine scouts. National guard recruiting toward a new goal of 235,000 is handled independently by the states.

Subs Sighted Off Both U. S. Coasts

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt revealed today that two foreign submarines have been sighted off Alaska and off New England.

The president said he was announcing the report as a matter of public information.

The disclosure was made at his press conference. Mr. Roosevelt refused to be drawn into speculation as to the nationality of the submarines.

The submarine sighted on the Pacific side, he said, was seen off the southern boundary of Alaska near where the boundary reaches the Alaskan inside passage.

He said that for perfectly obvious reasons he could not disclose his sources of information as to the whereabouts of the submarines.

When asked about nationality of the undersea boats, Mr. Roosevelt jokingly said they might be Swiss.

One reporter suggested that they might be Canadian submarines. Mr. Roosevelt countered that they also might be Bolivian or Afghan undersea vessels.

The newly established neutrality patrol of destroyers, coast guard cutters and airplanes is operating in the approximate location where the submarine was reported sighted off the northeast Atlantic coast.

HEARS STORY OF CITY EXPANSION

Record C. of C. Meeting Told of Industry's Expenditure in Recent Months.

A startling story of Mansfield's industrial expansion in recent months was unfolded last night as the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce gathered for its first fall membership meeting.

Meeting in the Westinghouse auditorium, more than 500 members and guests, the largest group ever to attend a C. of C. meeting, also listened in on Major Edward Bowes' radio salute to the city on his weekly amateur program.

They heard industrial leaders lauded for their faith in Mansfield by President Clarence L. VanDerau of the chamber who said they were responsible for $862,000 of industrial expansion in the past few months.

"Mansfield is doubly blessed for what industry is doing for the city," he said. "We have in Mansfield a solid type industry that is being conducted under the leadership of good sound thinking and planning."

He introduced executives from Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, Humphryes Manufacturing company, Tappan Stove company, Art Rattan company, Ohio Brass company, Globe Steel Abrasive

PIGS GRAZE ON ASHLAND LAWNS

Porkers Dine On City Grass After Trailer Turns Over.

ASHLAND—Lawns in the vicinity of Ashland's Main street were used as a grazing ground by three pigs this morning when they broke loose from a trailer that overturned at the corner of Clairmont avenue and Main street.

The trailer, loaded with pigs, turned over on the street when coupling broke loose from the truck, according to Ashland police. Only three pigs broke loose, police said. They were caught by police and returned to the trailer.

FALL'S IN HURRY

Mercury Tumbles to 34 Before New Season Arrives.

Fall weather, arriving one day ahead of the season, dropped the mercury to 34 degrees, two above freezing, in Mansfield this morning. It was the lowest mark since last spring.

The weatherman forecast fair and warmer weather for the first day of autumn Saturday. Increasing cloudiness will bring showers and cooler temperature by Saturday night or Sunday, he said.

Despite the low mark this morning, there was no official report of frost in the Mansfield area. Frost occurred several days ago in the lowlands near the city, however, when the mercury dropped to 37 degrees.

Under a warm sun, the mercury climbed rapidly today and at noon stood at 71 degrees.

DUKE IN UNIFORM

Windsor To Get Regular Pay For Major, $20 Daily.

LONDON—(AP)—Major General the Duke of Windsor was photographed in uniform today for the first time since his return to England to help his country.

Military regulations did not prevent the Duke's usual distinctive touch. He wore non-regulation shoes. His gas mask was equipped with a white sling instead of the khaki one.

As major general he receives army pay roughly equivalent to $20 daily.

WEST: Germans Plan Lightning Thrust At France, Britain Says

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Indications were observed in official British circles today that the German high command is making dispositions from which can be launched what is designed to be an "overwhelming lightning offensive" against northern France.

Tremendous masses of troops are being coordinated. Aircraft and armored vehicles are being moved up. The high command, according to these British reports, has apparently decided upon a lightning thrust such as that carried out against Poland.

Heavy troop detachments are gradually moving toward the southeast from northern Germany. Fortifications are being constructed on the Dutch frontier, and huge numbers of men are gathering in the vicinity of Aachen opposite Liege.

(Editor's note: In an official announcement yesterday, German Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels stated that Germany has no intention of violating the neutrality of Belgium or Holland.)

Whether the German offensive will be launched on the Siegfried line in the conviction that at the cost of several hundred thousand lives the comparatively rigid Maginot line can be broken, or through Holland and Belgium is the great

EAST: Germans, Russians Set Up 'Demarcation Line' In Poland

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—A German-Russian agreement under which Germany is withdrawing her armies in Poland to the west of the continuous north-south line formed by the Pissa, Narew, Vistula and San rivers was announced here today.

Warsaw, on the west bank of the Vistula, will remain in German hands. (It has not yet been taken from the Poles.—Ed.)

The announcement described the line of the rivers as the "demarcation line," but it was pointed out that future boundaries would not necessarily follow it.

Russian armies, however, will occupy eastern Poland up to this line, including the cities of Lublin, Luck, Lwow, Brezesc (Brest-Litovsk), Bialystok and Wilno (Vilna).

The fate of Warsaw was understood to have been one of the last points agreed upon in the Nazi-Soviet negotiations on immediate apportionment of Polish territory.

President Roosevelt's request to congress to lift the arms embargo drew no official German response but unofficial sources considered it good as well as bad news for Germany.

Revision of the United States' neutrality law would be unwel-

What's Your Opinion In Neutrality Row?

News-Journal Offers Readers Chance to Express Selves In Controversy.

With President Roosevelt and congress preparing to thresh out the momentous and highly controversial neutrality problem in a special session of congress which opened yesterday in Washington, Mansfield citizens are no less interested than the spectators in the capitol galleries.

"What do you think about the present and proposed neutrality law and which do you think is most likely to keep us out of the war?"

Perhaps no question in recent years has been asked so frequently or with so much interest in Mansfield as this one which is on the lips of everyone.

The News-Journal yesterday carried a cross section of opinion on the question.

The survey showed that five persons out of six reached wanted to maintain the present neutrality law, which prevents the sale of war materials to belligerent countries.

☐ Do you favor amending the neutrality law to permit belligerents to purchase war materials in this country on a cash-and-carry basis?

The Fun Begins
an Hour From Now

YOU'LL SEE IT PASS like a silver flash! But don't waste time staring after a 1940 Nash. Get in the driver's seat . . . for that's where the fun begins.

Turn the Weather Eye to the comfort you want. (It offers new conditioned air wonders this year.)

Just a nudge of your toe, and a hundred-odd stampeding horses lift you ahead. Then—a click—a rush—and a new Fourth Speed Forward lends soft wings to your ride.

A Sunday driver ahead? Don't worry. There's something new in the throttle—the Nash Automatic Overtake. Just press your toe—and leave him dawdling in your dust.

There's riding magic, pure and simple, in the Arrow-Flight Ride. Miraculous result of new springing combination . . . so smooth, so level, so silent, you might be in your easy chair!

Can you be blamed if nightfall finds you far away, sleeping under the stars in your Nash convertible bed?

We're asking you, with nothing but your own preferences and instincts, to get behind the wheel of a 1940 Nash. For ten glorious minutes—that's all.

Then decide if any other car today can give you as much down-right fun as this new, lower-priced Nash!

Let's go! Your Nash dealer is ready now.

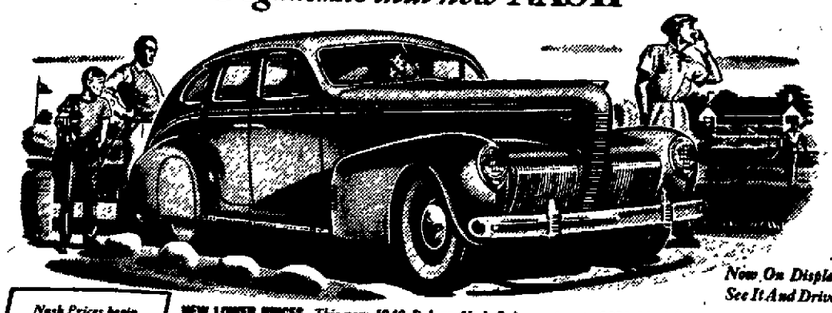
Again...it's that new NASH



Now On Display—See It And Drive It!

Business and Industrial Men Seek Clarification of State Law.

Herschel C. Atkinson, director of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, was asked by the Chamber of Commerce today to come to Mansfield to address a group of businessmen on the compensation laws.

Thirty accountants and personel managers, representing Mansfield business and industry voted to seek the assistance of the compensation chief in clarifying points at issue at a meeting this week.

The group met to study the compensation laws in order to arrive at a uniform system of reporting payments to the state, Merle Manz, president of the Manufacturers' club, said.

SKUNK AFFIXED

BERKELEY, Cal - (U.P.) — Allen R. Tierman drove as fast as he could without breaking traffic regulations to get out of a skunk trail into which he had driven. When he finally reached home, however, he still found himself in the midst of the trail. Investigation revealed the skunk tied to the rear bumper of his car.

$50,000 SUIT HEADS WEEK'S COURT DOCKET

Damage Action Against O.P.S. One of 6 Cases to Be Heard by Petit Jurors.

A $50,000 damage suit against the Ohio Public Service company tops a list of six cases scheduled for hearing next week before the county petit jury which will re-convene Monday after a long recess.

The damage action was brought by John M. Grubaugh, Mansfield, who contends that he received severe injuries in July, 1935, when he came in contact with a power line in Rome in northern Richland county.

Grubaugh was helping to move a house through the village and suffered the burns when he attempted to raise the power line so the house would pass under it. The wire resembled a telephone line, leading him to believe it was harmless, he said.

The case is set for trial Thursday, but probably will be moved up if others on the docket are settled or continued. Attys. Lewis Brucker and H. M. Rust are counsel for Grubaugh, while Henkel and Gongwer represent the O. P. S.

Other Cases.

The other cases and the attorneys who will argue them are:

Monday — Pennsylvania Railroad company vs Irvin H. Munster, for $234 damages to crossing gates on East Fourth street, allegedly the result of the defendant's truck crashing through them; Attys. Burt Kinnison, Carson and Shadrach for plaintiff and Henkel and Gongwer for defendant.

Wednesday—Boyd Robinson vs. John Goettl, for $166 judgment, representing balance alleged due on property sold to defendant; Attys. A. S. Beach and Claude Ewing for plaintiff and John F Kramer for defendant. G L Bumpus vs Arthur Zimpher, for $2,622 personal injury judgment resulting from traffic accident west of Mansfield last April, Atty Joseph A. Bayer for plaintiff and J. V. Will for defendant.

Friday—J. E Berry vs John F Kramer, administrator, for $599 judgment for services rendered; Atty R E Hutchison for plaintiff and Cummins and Kramer for defendant.

Slain In Rumania

Thousands were reported executed today as Rumania exacted a heavy price from the pro-Nazi iron guard for the assassination yesterday of Prime Minister Armand Calinescu, shown above. Eight iron guardists, whose organization Calinescu fought, were publicly executed as the premier's assassins. The murder led some observers to believe that it might lead to a quarrel between Russia and Germany over Rumania.

BROWNELL'S TO MOVE OCT. 15

Shoe Company Acquires location Being vacated by Drug Store.

The Brownell Shoe company, now located at 94 North Main street, today announced that it had acquired the lease on the store room being vacated by the Davis Drug company at 35 North Main.

The Brownell company will remodel and redecorate the room, install a modern new front, and plans to occupy the new quarters by Oct. 15. Remodeling will begin Oct. 1, G. G. Eusey, manager of the store, said today.

The Brownell company has been in business in Mansfield for the past 17 years, and was located at 17 North Main, present location of the Kresge 5 and 10-cent store, before moving to its present address. Eusey has been manager of the store for the past six years.

Here are the 5 benefits you want in a between-meal food for children

1. Taste appeal. NBC Grahams are so delicious, youngsters choose them on flavor alone. Just sweet enough...delightfully crunchy.

2. Digestibility. You'll find NBC Grahams digest so easily they don't spoil children's normal appetites for regular meals.

3. Wholesomeness. These famous crackers are an energy-helping food needed by growing children.

4. Quality you can trust. The NBC Seal on the red Graham Cracker package is your assurance of high quality. Only fine ingredients are used. Protected in triple-wrapped packages.

5. Time and work saving. Keep NBC Grahams in a handy place and tell the children to "help themselves." A delicious food for adults, too!

SUGGESTION OF THE WEEK

Boy! What a treat! Flavorful NBC Grahams crumbled in a bowl of milk. Make this "workless" satisfying dish a regular for light suppers and lunches.

STUDENTS BUILD IRON ORE OVEN

GRAND FORKS, N. D.—(U.P.)—Credit for developing a special processing furnace for conversion of iron ores goes to two University of North Dakota engineering students.

Louis Savage and Harold Sorstokke created the furnace. The process involved converts low-grade hematite ores into a higher grade magnetic ore through the use of pulverized lignite.

Listen to the CHEERS!

...when you announce this crisp new cereal for breakfast...made of naturally nourishing whole wheat!

Serve CUBS for breakfast tomorrow . . . and watch your family really enjoy itself! CUBS are snappy little biscuits of shredded whole wheat that fit right into your spoon, and they're just about the tastiest bits that ever found their way into a cereal package! For National Biscuit Company has put into this wholesome breakfast food all that crisp crunchy goodness that has made their crackers so famous. CUBS are whole wheat . . . bringing you the 7 vital food elements listed in the panel on the right. So when eaten regularly they help you in 7 separate ways. Be certain to order CUBS from your grocer the very first chance you get.

Whole wheat energy to help you in these 7 ways:

1. Proteins—to help develop muscle and other tissue.
2. Carbohydrates—contribute to energy.
3. Iron—an essential element of the blood stream
4. Copper—enables systems to use food iron effectively.
5. Phosphorus—essential to bone and tooth development
6. Roughage—helps "regularity"
7. Vitamin B1—stimulates faulty appetite and digestion.

NEW! BETTER CAKES THAN YOU EVER BAKED BEFORE!

Just use New "SURE-MIX" CRISCO—biggest shortening discovery in 29 years!

CARAMEL-NUT WHITE CAKE
½ cup Crisco
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup water
2 cups cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
4 egg whites
Blend Crisco, sugar, salt and vanilla (completely mixed, thanks to "Sure-Mix" Crisco). Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with water. Fold in egg whites beaten stiff but not dry. Bake in two "Crisco'd" 8-inch layer pans in a moderate oven (350° F.) 30-35 minutes. Frost with—CARAMEL FROSTING: Cook over boiling water 1½ cups brown sugar, ½ cup water and 2 egg whites. Beat 7 minutes or until frosting holds peaks. Remove from heat. Continue beating till cool. Spread between layers (½ cup chopped toasted almonds can be added). Frost rest of cake. Decorate top with toasted whole almonds dipped in melted chocolate.
All Measurements Level
HIGHER!
CAKES UP TO 15% HIGHER!

New "Sure-Mix" Crisco does things no other shortening does for you

Today you can open your oven door and take out a finer, better-eating cake than you have ever baked before. There is a lot to this promise. It means 1. HIGHER cake—up to 15% higher, depending on the type of cake. 2. LIGHTER cake. 3. TENDERER cake.

Just one ingredient can make this big difference—your shortening. Change to New "Sure-Mix" Crisco!

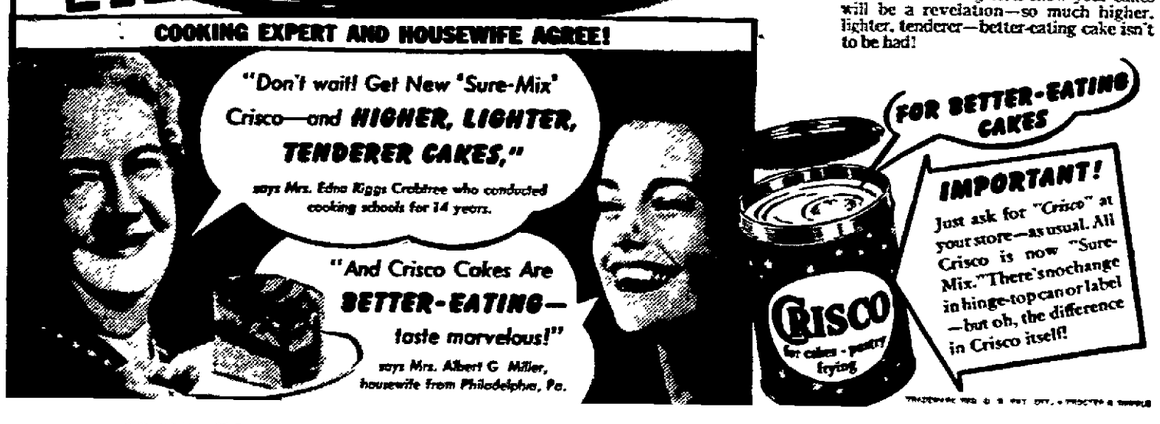
Pure all-vegetable Crisco now brings you a vital scientific discovery. We don't know of any other household shortening that is like "Sure-Mix" Crisco—that does the things "Sure-Mix" Crisco will do for you.

Crisco's new type of batter

New "Sure-Mix" Crisco gives you more completely mixed batter. The ingredients seem to flow together. They stay together!

Let your favorite cake recipe show you the difference this new-type batter makes. Just make one change . . . use "Sure-Mix" Crisco. Our baking tests show your cakes will be a revelation—so much higher, lighter, tenderer—better-eating cake isn't to be had!

COOKING EXPERT AND HOUSEWIFE AGREE!



"Don't wait! Get New 'Sure-Mix' Crisco—and HIGHER, LIGHTER, TENDERER CAKES," says Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree who conducted cooking schools for 14 years.
"And Crisco Cakes Are BETTER-EATING—taste marvelous!"
says Mrs. Albert G Miller, housewife from Philadelphia, Pa.
CRISCO for cakes - pastry frying
FOR BETTER-EATING CAKES
IMPORTANT! Just ask for "Crisco" at your store—as usual. All Crisco is now "Sure-Mix." There's no change in hinge-top can or label—but oh, the difference in Crisco itself!

CLOSE OHIO STATE LEAGUE PLAYOFF TONIGHT.

LIMA—(AP)—The Ohio State league championship will be decided tonight. The Lima Pandas squared the series at three-all last night by defeating Findlay 8 to 7 and sent the playoff into the seventh-game finale.

Bob Griffith cracked out two doubles and a triple to drive in seven of the eight runs.

Tygers Underdogs In Massillon Game Saturday

IN THE RUHL BOOK

By OSCAR RUHL

THE NUTTIEST football town in Ohio, Massillon is getting ready to put out the "Welcome" mat for Coach Paul Snyder and his Tygers.

Mansfield will invade the football-mad city Saturday afternoon, and, according to Mr. Snyder, the Tygers are not going to Massillon Saturday with the intentions of merely going through the motion.

While the Tygers have been definitely established as underdogs, Snyder's crew of ball players should make it interesting for the host Tigers.

Mansfielders have only to go back two years to recall a game which left an unpleasant taste in the mouths of Massillon citizens.

It was that 1937 game which ended in a 6 to 6 tie, and nearly ruined Massillon's string of victories.

That tie, folks, is the only mark applied by an Ohio team on Massillon's record in five years.

To give you an idea how the Massillon club has fared on the gridiron in the last few years, we're publishing its record:

Massillon 70—Akron East High 0.
Massillon 66—Cleveland Shaw 0.
Massillon 46—Portsmouth 0.
Massillon 64—Youngstown South 0.

Junior High Schools Produce Grid Material.

ALL THIS TALK about Massillon invading other districts for its football material appears to be a wee bit far fetched. Everyone of the 35 players on the Tiger varsity attended one of Massillon's three junior high schools. Fourteen came from Lorin Andrews, 13 from Longfellow and eight from Edmund Jones. Fifteen of the 35 are juniors, 10 are sophomores and 10 are seniors.

That it costs a lot of money to produce football teams at Massillon is revealed in the financial record of the school. The football expenditures for a 10-year period were $83,109.49, but the revenue derived from sport amounted to $140,570.72.

Postponed Match to Determine Outcome of News-Journal Race

Harvey's Sample Shoes Hold Chance to Pass O. P. S. In Tight Possum Run Battle.

IT WAS pretty difficult to guess who will win the championship of The News-Journal B golf league today.

The schedule was closed at Possum Run yesterday, but one individual match was postponed, and the outcome of this one match will probably determine the champion.

The all-important postponed match will pit Tony Schadek of Harvey's Sample Shoes against Steve Stirtzinger of the Bissman company team, and, in all likelihood, it will be played this weekend.

Representatives of the Ohio Public Service company defeated the Metal Vaults, 3 to 2, yesterday to hold first place by a one-point margin over Harvey's team today.

But if Schadek wins the postponed match and gains two strokes over Stirtzinger to give his team low gross point for the match with the Bissman club, Harvey's Shoes will annex the crown.

However, if Schadek obtains only one point for the Shoemen, they will tie the O. P. S. clan for the championship, which would necessitate a playoff for the title.

Should the Bissman club win both points at stake in the postponed tiff, the title race would end as it now stands.

Merle Spurgeon shot a heat 38 and Lee Arntz compiled a 43 to give Harvey's golfers the lead in the match with the Bissman club yesterday.

The Central Fruits, paced by Harry Schlegel's 37 and Frank Lay's 39, blanked Al's Kicks, 5 to 0, to climb into third place, one point behind the Shoemen in today's standings. Chuck Schlegel shot a 33 for the losers.

The Bissman team is fourth, with The News-Journals fifth, three points in the rear. The Newspapermen, led by Harry Case's 39, trimmed the Auxter Motors, 5 to 0, to cinch fifth place from Al's Kicks.

The Richman Clothiers whipped the last place Elks Lodge, 4 to 1, Marion Ward winning the only point for the losers with a 39.

The annual banquet of the league will be held at the Possum Run club house at 6 p. m. next Thursday.

Bantams Open Season Sunday

The Adams bantam football team will inaugurate its season against the state champion Cleveland Skippies on the Thomas Edison field in Cleveland Sunday.

The midget eleven, which has been working out under the lights at Johns park, is coached by Hank Richards, former Mansfield high star, who is assisted by Joe Zimmerman. Frank Campbell is business manager of the team.

Included among the players who will be taken to Cleveland are Wise, Hunt, J. Jerger, F. Hallabrin, Kirk, Krupp, Spicer, Moyer, Rimmer, Bush, Bosko, Cosentino, P. Hallabrin, M. Hallabrin, Leitenberger, Palmer, Schwaner, Durbin, Emerson, Edwards and L. Jerger.

Johnny Leppo Hits 656 In Moose League

Collects Eight Straight Strikes In Middle Game As He Rolls 267 at Meder Alleys.

ONE of the finest bits of bowling displayed on the Meder Recreation alleys this season was presented by Johnny Leppo in the Moose Home league last night when he cracked the maples for a 656 total.

Leppo, who led the No. 4 team to a pair of wins over No. 5, came through with games of 212, 267 and 177.

In his big middle game, Leppo started out with a spare and then rolled up eight straight strikes. He finished with a spare. The No. 4 team hit the 2525 figures, but scoring honors were annexed by No. 1, led by Eddie Meder's 605, with 2554 pins. No. 6 upset 2526 pins.

Possum Run, Adams Set Scoring Pace.

THE best in team counts in the Commercial B league at the Meder alleys last night was a 2636 total compiled by the Possum Run golf club, which, led by Lewis's 566, finished with a 934. The big string was good for only one win over the Ringside Cafe, however.

The Mansfield Rugs were second high in the scoring with 2609 and took two decisions from the Mohican Chevrolets, who were paced by Lum Burton's 582.

Clyde Adams of the Shelby Cycles was the individual leader with a 608 total, and divided the count into games of 211, 204 and 193.

Former All-Ohioan Plays With Supply Eleven In Opener

One of the outstanding members of the Automotive Supplies, who represent the city on the semi-pro field, is Gaylord Bucher, winner of All-Ohio honors two years at Mansfield high school.

A guard, whom J. Russell Murphy regards as one of the best linemen he ever developed, Bucher will be in the starting lineup at 2:30 p. m. Sunday when the Supplies face the Akron O'Neils in their opener at Blue Goose field.

Bucher won All-Ohio honors in the only two years he was a member of the Tyger eleven.

Colleges Open Football Race

Two Games to Launch Ohio Conference Schedule.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The Ohio conference football lid was slated to be pried off tonight when Ohio Northern clashes with Findlay and Otterbein meets Muskingum.

In other games tonight, Mt. Union opens against Albion of Michigan and Youngstown was after its second straight victory in Charleston against Morris-Harvey.

Ohio Northern, which compiled a better than average conference record last year, was rated as favorite over Findlay. Muskingum, although slow in rounding into shape, was not expected to have much trouble with Otterbein.

Tomorrow's standout encounter pits Ohio university against Western Maryland. The game will mark the first time in years the Bobcats have been rated the underdog in their own stadium. Hard hit by graduation, the Green and White outfit is outweighed by the Kentuckians, 10 pounds to the man.

In other games tomorrow, Ohio Wesleyan meets Alma, Toledo opposes Valparaiso and Bluffton meets Kenyon.

BUCYRUS BOXING STAR LOSES HAND IN ACCIDENT

BUCYRUS — Paul Mollenkopf, 22, Bucyrus, amateur boxer, lost his right hand in a milling machine at Swan Rubber plant where he is employed Thursday.

Mollenkopf was taken to City hospital after his hand had become entangled in the machinery. It was amputated above the wrist. He is the third man to lose a hand in such an accident in the last year.

Reds Face Trial By Fire In Pittsburgh Series

By JUDSON BAILEY
(AP Sports Writer)

CINCINNATI'S championship calibre is going to get a two-day test in a crucible fired by the Pittsburgh Pirates today and tomorrow, a pre-heating process that will have a lot to do with the temperature of that series next week against the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Reds are in a position where they have got to win or move aside, because it looks as if nothing but a miracle can stop St. Louis.

The Cardinals collided with Brooklyn this week when the Dodgers were hot on a five-game winning streak and cooled them off. They finished sweeping the series yesterday by rallying with three singles and a double for two runs after two were out in the ninth inning to win 6-5.

Paul Derringer produced his 23rd triumph of the campaign as the Reds routed the Phillies, 8-3. He gave 11 hits, but wasn't under pressure and helped out at the plate with a single and two sacrifices. This brought the combined total of his and Bucky Walters' wins to 49—the total that Diz and Paul Dean accumulated over the full season in pitching the Cardinals to the 1934 pennant.

It did not, however, solve the question that came up for debate today:

"Can Gene Thompson, Whitey Moore, Milt Shoffner, John Vander Meer, Lee Grissom and the gang win three or four games real quickly?"

The standings now:

Club.	W.	L.	G.B.	G.P.
Cincinnati	88	54	—	12
St. Louis	86	57	2½	10*

(*) One game with New York cancelled.

Out of the race and battling to hold third, the Chicago Cubs clawed a 9-3 decision from the New York Giants yesterday.

The Pirates sent two rookies against the Boston Bees and long Johnny Gee struck out 11 to win one game 6-4, and Oadis Swigart pitched shutout ball to nab the other, 7-0.

The world champion Yankees completed their conquest of the Chicago White Sox with a 5-2 triumph.

Boston's Red Sox took the deciding game of their series with the St. Louis Browns, 6-2, on seven-hit pitching by Dennis Galehouse. A similar performance by Al Milnar, coupled with a six-run uprising in the eighth inning, brought the Cleveland Indians a 6-3 victory over the Washington Senators.

Rudy York hit a homer in the eighth and a single with the bases loaded in the ninth to give the Detroit Tigers a 7-6 advantage over the Philadelphia Athletics.

MANSFIELD was not given as much of a chance to whip Massillon as Poland was accorded against Germany in the present European conflict two years ago.

The Tygers did not trim Massillon, and the experts said they wouldn't, but Mansfield came about as close to turning the trick as the law allows. The game ended in a 6 to 6 tie, but the score does not tell how close the Tygers came to becoming the first Ohio eleven to defeat the Stark countians in . . . well, a good many years.

Mansfield cannot possibly win this game, according to the Massillon dope, and it will even take a great Mansfield team to ever make it interesting for the host Tigers, if you take everything you hear seriously.

Coach Paul Snyder realizes the task confronting the Tygers, but he has yet to be shown that Massillon is the power that it is said to be.

Snyder figures if the Tygers present the same brand of football they displayed in their opener with Akron West, Massillon will not have as easy of a time as it may now anticipate.

The Mansfield squad is in perfect condition, Snyder says, and, apparently, is confident that the Tygers will be anything but a push-over.

Mansfield hopes were brightened considerably this week when it was learned that Dave Templeton, outstanding in practice games, would be available Saturday.

Fullback Templeton suffered an injured leg in an early drill, and he was unable to appear in the opener against Akron West.

Templeton's appearance in the lineup is expected to strengthen the offensive side of Mansfield's argument as he is capable of kicking and throwing as well as running the ball.

One of the largest crowds ever to follow a Mansfield team for an out-of-town game is expected to accompany the Tygers Saturday.

Thelma Linster's 518 Leads Women's League.

THELMA LINSTER set the scoring pace with 518 as the Women's league launched its season last night, but her No. 7 team won only one game as No. 8 annexed team scoring honors with 2080. Kate Cheney's 473 was high for No. 8.

Eberhart, with 460, led No. 4 to the second high team total.

Crestline Tilt Tops Football Card Tonight

Host to Galion High School; Shelby Hopes to Protect Record at Willard.

Victorious over Galion only once since 1922, Crestline high school gridders will attempt to register their second win in the annual series tonight when the two schools tangle at Crestline in one of the headline games on this week-end's high school bill.

Galion polished off Mt. Gilead without a great deal of trouble in its opener, and Crestline, led by Phil Ganni and Bob Frye, whipped Sandusky St. Mary's, 38 to 6, in its inaugural. The record of the Galion-Crestline rivalry follows:

1922—Galion 32, Crestline 0.
1925—Galion 14, Crestline 0.
1926—Galion 19, Crestline 0.
1927—Galion 19, Crestline 0.
1928—Galion 13, Crestline 0.
1929—Galion 25, Crestline 6.
1931—Galion 54, Crestline 0.
1932—Galion 32, Crestline 0.
1933—Galion 45, Crestline 6.
1934—Galion 27, Crestline 0.
1935—Galion 12, Crestline 6.
1936—Crestline 13, Galion 6.
1937—Galion 19, Crestline 0.
1938—Galion 24, Crestline 0.

Bob Laubie pulled up with a bad knee and John Hazelwood is nursing a bad shoulder, but both are expected to be in action tonight when Shelby invades Willard.

Shelby is expected to be outweighed, but it indicated in its opener that it will be a factor in the N. C. O. conference race this season.

Tonight's game will renew the rivalry between the twin coaches, Bill and Dave Query of Shelby and Willard respectively.

Shelby defeated Willard, 27 to 0, last year, and is undefeated in 12 straight games. The only mar is a 13 to 13 tie with Galion. Shelby's 12-game record:

The games won follow:
Shelby 13, Tiffin Calvert 7.
Shelby 24, Galion 12.
1938
Shelby 18, Norwalk 0.
Shelby 27, Willard 0.
Shelby 20, Mt. Vernon 0.
Shelby 41, Ashland 0.
Shelby 48, Bucyrus 0.
Shelby 26, Mansfield 13.
Shelby 21, Marion 0.
Shelby 13, Crestline 0.
Shelby 13, Galion 13.
1939
Shelby 7, Norwalk 0.

Nine Victories Scored on Trip

Tribe Returns Home for Last Series With Detroit.

CLEVELAND — (AP) —Cleveland fans, always enthusiastic about a winner, welcomed the Indians home today with open arms after the club's most successful eastern tour in recent years.

The Redskins closed their trip with nine victories in 11 starts yesterday as Al Milnar beat Washington, 6 to 3, on a seven-hit game.

Manager Oscar Vitt promised to give the fan faithful a treat today by nominating his ace fireballer, Bob Feller, to pitch the opener of a four-game series with Detroit. Southpaw Archie McKain was due for the Tigers.

Cleveland downed the Senators on a six-run rally in the eighth inning. The decision increased the Indians' third-place margin over Chicago to two full games, but left them still three games in back of the also-victorious Red Sox.

Roy Weatherly, who was knocked unconscious when he crashed into the field boxes trying to catch Charley Gelbert's seventh-inning home run, started the winning rally with a clean single. The Indians batted around before Dick Bass, rookie 31-year-old right hander, could get them out. The Detroit series will close with a double header Sunday.

ATTENTION, SQUIRRELS!

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Attention, all squirrels! Get ready for the annual run-for-your-lives season. The open season for gray and fox squirrels opens Monday in Ohio and continues through Oct. 10.

Examine this table. It shows that $4.46 a month repays everything on a $100 loan in 30 months. The faster you pay, the less the total cost. These payments are calculated on Household's new reduced rates of 2% monthly on balances up to $300 and 1½% yearly on balances over $300 to $500. These rates are less than legal maximum, and are the same to everyone—one price to all. Only borrowers sign—no endorsers on any loan. No credit inquiries of friends or relatives.

Chuckle Corner

The future for Europe, according to an editorial, appears exceedingly dark. Naturally, with virtually everyone over there looking down a cannon's mouth.

The man at the next desk thinks the National league pennant winner is bound to lose the world series. Their pitchers, he says, will never get by the Yankees' Di Maginot line.

"Suggest Blackout Practice for New York" — headline. Hmmm—even Broadway is willing to make the supreme sacrifice.

TRADERS TURN TIMID AFTER EARLY UPSURGE

Market Rally Stopped by Belief Struggle Will Result in Senate Over Embargo.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market furled its forward-driving sails today after an early buying speed-up had brought gains of fractions to 2 points.

The initial upsurge, brokers said, was due mainly to the speculative optimism which followed President Roosevelt's address to congress asking for repeal of the arm embargo. But second thoughts of a struggle in the senate inspired caution.

U. S. governments again slipped in the bond department, but many corporate loans improved. Securities at Amsterdam turned downward. Commodities were mixed.

Bethlehem Steel and U. S. Steel eventually erased advances of 2. Hesitant also were Chrysler, General Motors, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, Texas Corp., Goodyear, Kennecott and Allied Chemical.

Brightening of the business horizon continued as a market prop.

Market analysis derived further comfort from week-end retail surveys indicating consumer spending throughout the country was being maintained at a satisfactory level.

Dun & Bradstreet estimated the nation's retail turnover this week topped the comparable period a year ago by 6 to 14 per cent.

Wholesale activities, the review added, while indicating the forward buying surge had passed its peak, still were substantially above 1938.

FOREIGNERS FLEE WARSAW

BERLIN—(AP)—Nearly 1,400 foreigners, including at least eight Americans, have left besieged Warsaw and been taken to Koenigsberg, East Prussia, in special trains, the German army announced today.

DO YOU FAVOR ARMS REPEAL?

News-Journal Gives Readers Chance to Express Views in Neutrality Row.

But the survey, of course, could reach only a small cross-section. Hence, The News-Journal offers every reader a chance to express his opinion on the subject.

Shall the United States maintain its present neutrality law, with its arms embargo? A strong bloc of senators, headed by William E. Borah, think so. They say it is the surest way to keep out of war. President Roosevelt and other senators went to repeal the embargo provisions. They say the embargo favors Germany.

Shall the embargo law be repealed and belligerents permitted to buy what they want in United States, paying cash and carrying away their purchases in their own boats? This is what President Roosevelt wants, and he is supported by many senators and representatives. Opponents of this plan say it favors Britain and France.

A ballot appears in today's paper which may be used to express your opinion. Names and addresses are requested, but will not be used. Results of the voting will be published in figures.

After marking the ballot, it may either be mailed in a letter or pasted on the back of a penny postcard and sent to the Neutrality Editor, News-Journal, or the marked ballots may be brought to The News-Journal office.

Congressmen and senators, meeting in Washington to debate and act on this momentous question which will decide our foreign policy with regard to the World war, are as divided in their opinions as their constituents, and all of them are eager to know what their constituents are thinking on the subject.

If you want to personally express your views and wishes, write or wire your representatives in congress, who are Senator Vic Donahey and Senator Robert Taft, both of whom may be reached at the Senate Office building, Washington; and Congressman William A. Ashbrook, House Office building, Washington.

TRAILING SPIES

U. S. Agents Launch Drive on Huge Espionage Ring.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Federal agents were understood today to be on the trail of one of the largest spy syndicates ever to operate in the United States and a number of arrests are expected soon.

The syndicate was uncovered by the augmented war time staff of the federal bureau of investigation, it was said. One of the suspects under surveillance was described as a woman known throughout the heavily German district of Yorkville as "Doc" or "the Duchess."

One version of the investigation held that this woman had taken over the co-ordinating work of Dr. Ignatz T. Griebl, who fled to Germany more than a year ago while under investigation in connection with the peasant cart drawn by six oxen" to a tomb beside his father at Arges.

King Carol named a new government within eight hours, mindful of the massed armies of Soviet Russia, Bulgaria and Hungary at his frontiers and of the army of Germany not so far away in southern Poland.

Bulgaria. Hungary and Russia turned over territory to Rumania after the World war and the return of some of it has been demanded.

Germany seeks more Rumanian oil, thus far unsuccessfully. A mission here has been told the oil already is pledged to British, French and American companies.

Named New Premier.

Gen. George Argensanu, 56, one of Rumania's outstanding soldiers and known as a "tough disciplinarian," became the new premier.

Officials issued a list of those killed in the plot. It was headed by the name of Domitro Dumitrescu, a lawyer who was said to have succeeded Corneliu Zelea Codreanu as Iron Guard leader after Codreanu was killed last Dec. 1 in which officials said was an attempted break from Rumnik-Sarat prison.

Dumitrescu, the announcement said, carefully planned the killing of the premier and led the shooting himself.

The list included four young law students, a technical school student, a mechanic, a chauffeur, a designer and a photographer.

Although a communique said "no foreign complications" had been found in the plot, Rumanians nervously watched the frontiers. Troops were held to barracks throughout the country and frontier guards were strengthened.

After the slaying, the Iron Guardists were said to have sped in two automobiles to a radio studio. There they shot the doorman in the leg, rushed past him into the building, and seized the microphone. One shouted out the news that Calinescu had been shot.

During the tumult, in which a woman announcer was said to have fainted, the wounded doorman gave the alarm which brought police and troops. They surrounded the building and captured a group of youths waiting on the first floor.

Two more were arrested at the scene of the shooting, only five minutes walk from the Controceni castle, where King Carol is living.

A banner near the bodies carried the words:

"Such will be the fate of all assassins and traitors of the country."

All the dead had the young faces and youthful figures of college students.

Perhaps somewhere in the crowd stood some of their parents or relatives—but no one attempted to claim their dead.

DIG IN FOR HOT EMBARGO FIGHT

Senate Opponents Organize as Backers of President Predict Victory.

vision, obtain action in two or three weeks, and adjourn. Senate and house leaders of both parties would stay here, at the president's request, to consult with him on policy until the regular session begins in January.

The variance of comments on the presidential message led politicians to forecast a senate debate comparable to the bitter league of nations fight after the World war only on one point—his expressed belief that the United States could keep out of war—did Mr. Roosevelt win applause from all sides.

Senator Glass (D-Va.), who sometimes has opposed administration policies, gave his support to the president on this issue, calling his speech "very conclusive" and conferring with him at the White House.

Repeal of the embargo also was advocated by Senators Taft (R-Ohio) and Austin (R-Vt.), assistant minority leader. Senator Bridges (R-NY), an active New Deal foe, said:

"I am glad the president admits he made a mistake in signing the neutrality act and that congress made a mistake in passing it."

Senator McCarran told reporters, "If I ever was convinced that the neutrality law should not be changed, I am more convinced now."

Roosevelt Fails To Swerve Ashbrook.

President Roosevelt's appeal yesterday for revision of the neutrality act failed to swerve the veteran William A Ashbrook, 17th Ohio district congressman, from his belief that only a strict neutral policy will keep the nation out of war, Ashbrook told newspapermen today at Washington.

"He (the president) didn't change my mind. I'm against cash and carry," Ashbrook, whose district includes Richland county said briefly.

The veteran Democratic congressman told The News-Journal several days ago that he would oppose any attempt to change the neutrality law that he thought might lead this country to war.

Politics apparently had little bearing on the lining up of Ohio congressmen and senators with the president on his proposal for lifting the embargo, since both Democrats and Republicans agreed with him and opposed him.

Members of the Ohio congressional delegation who were to meet today to exchange views on the question before a special session of congress had varied opinions of the president's talk yesterday.

Here's what other Ohio congressmen had to say about the president's request for repeal of the arms embargo provision of the act:

John M. Vorys, R., Columbus: "There is only one other world leader who would make that kind of speech—Hitler. It contains the same specific misstatements made by the administration all year. The legislation he proposes as 'cash and carry' provides neither cash nor carry. The president consistently has talked about cash but all his proposals have had the loophole that he can make exceptions and extend 90-day credit to any nation he chooses."

Dow W. Harter, D., Akron: "I'm for cash and carry. It is a distinct improvement over our present law and minimizes the danger of carrying contraband in American ships."

Martin Sweeney, D., Cleveland: "I don't think he won over any votes. I'm still against cash and carry."

Robert Crosser, D. Cleveland: "A dispassionate statement of the president's position."

Charles Elston, R., Cincinnati: "I'm still unwilling to vote to give the president any powers, the exercise of which might involve us in war."

Harold Claypool, D., Chillicothe: "He goes along with my thoughts. I've consistently been for cash and carry and I'm still for it."

Robert Secrest, D., Caldwell: "The speech . . . did not change my mind. I still am against cash and carry."

Thomas A. Jenkins, R., Ironton: "Republicans will support any proposal that has real neutrality as its purpose. On the whole the president's message will be accepted by the American people as reassuring. He has sensed the unusual sentiment to keep out of war."

Frederick Smith, R., Marion: "He said the only thing he could say. Pass my program or give me more power."

Earl Lewis, R., St. Clairsville: "I'm frankly distrustful of the proposal for cash and carry because it tends to make America an arsenal for the allies making almost certain attempts by other nations to stop our trade and thus arouse the war spirit here."

C. of C. Members Tour Plant, Then Dine

The picture above shows a group of Chamber of Commerce members watching the operations of a metal stamping machine during their tour through the Westinghouse factory last night. The group is part of the 500 members who made the inspection tour of the range, refrigeration and appliance divisions following the first fall C. of C. meeting in the Westinghouse auditorium. Below is part of the group shown in the cafeteria where they were guests of the company at a buffet luncheon.

pany, Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company, Martin Steel Products company, Hartman-Spreng company, Superior Brass company, Perfect Rubber company, North American Knitting Mills, Ideal Electric Manufacturing company, Farm Tools, Inc. and Westinghouse.

VanDerau cited figures to prove that residential building had kept pace with the city's industrial growth. He said 173 new homes have been built in Mansfield so far this year as compared with 140 constructed during the entire 1938.

He said building valuations were near the $2,000,000 mark, almost double those of the last year.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter, complimenting the chamber for its meeting attendance, termed the organization the "bone and sinew" of the city, declaring that while it was Mansfield night on the Major's radio program it also appeared to be "Mansfield night in Mansfield."

Greetings also were extended to the group by L. E. Osborne, manager of the manufacturing and engineering of Westinghouse; Walter Gordon, president of the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce, Novelist Louis Bromfield, and R. B. Gardner, state commander-elect of the American Legion.

Following the meeting the group was taken on an inspection tour of the range, refrigeration and appliance divisions of the plant and then was guest of Westinghouse at a buffet luncheon served in the company cafeteria.

Music preceding the session was furnished by Bob Richards' Westinghouse orchestra.

STUDENTS RALLY FOR NIGHT GAME

SHELBY—A "snake dance" was held Thursday night and a "pep" rally today by students of Shelby high school in preparation for the Shelby-Willard football game at 8 p. m. today at the Willard athletic field.

Several hundred students participated in the "snake dance" last night on the downtown streets. The high school band of 55 pieces, directed by Russell Conger, took part in the rally. A bon-fire was built by the students on the Central school grounds.

PAST MATRONS MEET IN SHELBY

SHELBY—The Past Matrons association of the 10th district of the Order of Eastern Star lodge will meet in this city Saturday at the Masonic temple for its regular quarterly meeting.

Registration of the women will open the morning session at 10 a. m. Mrs. Clara Cover of Crestline, district president, will preside at the business session. The dinner at noon will be served by a committee of the Shelby and Plymouth past matrons in charge of the chairman, Mrs. Jack Robb. Some 75 past matrons are expected for the affair. The afternoon session will consist of the initiation ritual and a program.

LEXINGTON—Dr. A. W. Bloomfield, general presbyter of the Presbyterian church of Cleveland will be guest speaker at a congregational rally and program at 8 p. m. Monday at the Lexington Presbyterian church. Recognition will be held for 86 members received in the church during the past two years, and a special program will be held.

SEES POSSIBLE NAZI-RED SPLIT

Knickerbocker Says Murder of Rumanian Premier May Lead to Hitler, Stalin Scrap.

Russia especially, despite her pact with Germany, has not concealed her imperative desire to keep Germany away from the Black sea. For that purpose Stalin invited Saradjoglu to Moscow—not as first feared to try and win Turkey from the allies—but to arrange a Black sea pact pledging the powers bordering the Black sea to non-aggression and perhaps also containing some form of mutual guarantee of one another's Black sea littoral.

Germany is fully aware that such a Black sea pact would throw Russia and Rumania together and even create the possibility of conflict between Russia and a Germany determined to prevent it.

This was the real meaning of the murder of Calinescu. By killing him, they expect to terrorize his successor into abandoning the Black sea pact.

But his successor, Argesanu, is described as possessing a courage equal to Calinescu's and authoritative opinion is that the new premier will go ahead with the same program, which is essentially King Carol's anyway.

I learned that King Carol since the conquest of Poland has been clandestinely threatened and repeatedly told that if he does not dismiss his anti-German ministers and form a government favorable to Hitler, he will suffer the fate of Calinescu and the latter's predecessor, Ion G. Duca.

Carol's attitude so far has been uncompromisingly firm. Despite his Hohenzollern blood, he is convinced that his country would have nothing to expect except the fate of Czechoslovakia if he yielded further to German pressure.

Friends of Rumania consider that this man, who inspired small respect years ago when his romantic escapades amused Europe, has grown into a figure which is capable of becoming his country's strongest defense.

As one prominent Rumanian put it:

"It's lucky for us we have Carol. Being a king, he can never be a Hacha."

It was President Emil Hacha of Czechoslovakia was was summoned to Berlin and forced to acquiesce in Hitler's domination over Bohemia and Moravia.

BUCYRUS—Probate court: Mrs. Mabel Place was nominated executrix of the will of Burt E. Place, late of Galion, according to the will filed for probate Thursday. Mrs. Place was bequeathed all property of the deceased by terms of the will, which was draw up in 1934.

MILLIONS HEAR SALUTE TO CITY

Major Bowes Tells Vast Radio Audience of Mansfield's Beauty, Industry.

Hedges and John Larwill. They named it in honor of Jared Mansfield, surveyor-general of the United States.

"While Mansfield's growth has been steady and sure," he continued, "it was the coming of the Mansfield and Sandusky railroad in 1846 that began her real march to progress. Strategically located, at the southern edge of Ohio's great industrial belt, she lies in the center of the nation's iron and steel production.

"Close by are vast stores of raw materials and easy accessibility to markets and the center of population. Mansfield is frankly industrial. From her busy factories flow: automobile tires and tubes, sheet steel, stoves, brass products, farm equipment, textile products, motors, pumps, plumbing fixtures and refrigerators and electrical household appliances.

"Mansfield is a city of great natural beauty — a notably healthful city. Imposing homes rest in her fine residential districts. Her parks are beautiful—her boulevards wide—she is known as a 'City of Churches.'

"Johnny Appleseed—an eccentric exponent of orchard development is closely linked with the early history of Mansfield. A monument in his memory stands in Middle park.

"And so to Mansfield—one of Ohio's leading industrial cities—we send our admiring greetings."

After the Major's salute, Miss Dickson sang "A Heart That's Free" and received a tremendous "hand" from the audience in the Playhouse During the program almost 4,000 votes from Mansfield were called in to the special office set up on the second floor of the Mansfield Telephone building for the Mansfield girl. Major Bowes read the names of the first and 200th voter in the city. They were Carl Johnson, 485 Springmill street and Miss Della Young, 122 Glenwood boulevard.

Also mentioned on the program were city and county officials, organization leaders and Governor John Bricker, all of whom had sent telegrams to Bowes.

The famous maestro of radio programs expressed his appreciation to Mansfield and its industrial organizations for the souvenirs which they had sent as well as to florists for their flowers.

The offices at the telephone company were a bee hive of activity as a staff of 53 workers received and tabulated votes, sending them on to the New York City studio. Of the 5,000 votes cast here, Miss Dickson received 3,785, while her nearest competitor here was John Tucker, London, England, a whistler, who received 799 votes.

Miss Dickson is employed at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company and is a soloist with the First Lutheran church choir. She has taken her voice training in Cleveland.

BUCYRUS CIVIC CLUBS SPONSOR DINNER AT CAMP

State Meeting to Acquaint Youth With What Community Offers Them.

BUCYRUS—For the purpose of acquainting Bucyrus Scouts and others interested in youth activities with the advantages placed at the disposal of local young people, Bucyrus service clubs sponsored a dinner meeting at the new youth camp, Camp Michael, southwest of the city, Wednesday night.

The meeting was held in the newly completed Miller lodge, a concrete block building which was made possible through a legacy left by the late George W. Miller and other voluntary contributions.

One hundred and forty Scouters, members of the sponsoring clubs Bucyrus Rotary clubs, Lions and Y's Men's clubs and the American Legion attended the meeting.

Rev. G. L. Burghard, pastor of Church of Christ was the principal speaker. Honored guests were Rev. J. H. Patterson, pastor of the Mt. Zion United Brethren church, who was the first man to receive a scoutmaster's certificate in Ohio and Chief Wild Wolf, a descendant of a tribe of Iroquois Indians and two members of his medicine show visiting Bucyrus this week.

Dedicatory services for the camp, which was a gift of Mrs. C. F. Michael, Walter J. and Charles A. Michael, will be held October 8.

CORN JUDGING STARTS

BUCYRUS—Judging of entries of farm products and canned goods will open the annual Corn Show this afternoon in Washington square. More than 50 entries were placed on display late Thursday and early today, for which $100 in cash prizes and two bronze cups will be awarded.

Saturday's program includes the pet parade and the crowning of the Corn Queen, Miss Jayne Dudley of Tiro, and the awarding of prizes. The parade will start at 12:15 o'clock and the crowning of the queen will follow.

Bucyrus "B" club is sponsoring the show, which was held for the first time last year and which will be an annual affair.

Miss Dudley appeared in a style revue in a Bucyrus establishment this afternoon and tonight, with her attendants, will be guest of honor at the Bucyrus-Fostoria football game at Lane street field.

CITY CHURCHES JOIN IN PROGRAM

Ministerial Group Announces 12-Week Loyalty Campaign Gets Under Way Oct. 1.

Mansfield churches will join in a 12-week "Church Loyalty" program, beginning Oct. 1, the Mansfield Ministerial association announced today.

General theme for the series of special programs will be "Loyalty to Christ and the Church." A number of topics will be used by the participating churches each Sunday during the three-month period, but they will pertain to the major theme.

Urging co-operation with the program, Mayor Claude M. Hunter said: "In these troubled times the church stands for those values without which the world would be impoverished. I heartily endorse the Church Loyalty program in Mansfield as a vital and practical means of emphasizing the only adequate and abiding way of life for our citizenry."

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1939.

Can Neutral Course Be Found?

WHATEVER may be the outcome of deliberations of congress on the neutrality law, and regardless of what the future may bring, it is at least quite clear that both the executive and legislative branches of government in the United States are determined to strive earnestly to keep this country out of war.

As President Roosevelt addressed congress yesterday the loudest cheering came when he reiterated his desire to keep out of war and again expressed belief that this can be done.

Speaking for repeal of the embargo on sale of munitions to belligerents, Mr. Roosevelt expressed belief that this restriction "impairs the peaceful relations of the United States with foreign nations," and asked for a return to the provisions of international law as a basis for trade relations with other nations.

This is the point on which honest differences of opinion have brought about a feeling of deep concern all over the country, with a growing fear that re-entry into munitions business, even on a "cash and carry" plan, will develop a situation in which eventual participation in the war will be inescapable.

Any attempt to reach a conclusion as to the best course for the United States, in such a complicated situation, requires more complete information than even the average well-read person has available, and much dependence must be placed on the sincerity and judgment of chosen representatives in positions of authority.

Indication of an honest effort on the part of the administration to put aside partisan differences in attempting to establish and maintain American neutrality is encouraging. The next few days, weeks and months, will be crucial ones for the United States and all of its people, and there will be no time for political bickering.

There is great need for calmness in thought and speech during this period of uncertainty and danger, in order to avoid, if possible what President Roosevelt referred to as "darker periods that may lie ahead."

Things will be better when you can again depend on an atlas for a map of Europe instead of having to watch your daily paper.

Longer, Healthier Lives

ENCOURAGING improvement in the general health of Americans and their average length of life has come about since the turn of the century.

In 1901 the normal life expectancy at birth was 48.23 years for white boys and 51.08 years for white girls. In 1937 those figures had changed to 60.75 and 65.08 years respectively.

This progress has been made in a single generation in the midst of happenings which might produce quite different results. In those 36 years the United States participated in a great war. It suffered a severe influenza epidemic which took more lives than the war. It experienced the most far-reaching economic disturbance of generations.

These health-menacing factors were overcome by advances in medical knowledge and public health work, by emphasis on prevention of disease and by improvement in public sanitation.

It is a fine record, and there is no intention of stopping the good work.

"I want to write and tell our senators and congressman how to vote," explains an occasional phone caller, who continues: "What are their names?"

Science as Nature's Helper

NATIONS may not have to scramble and fight so much for natural resources hereafter, says President Karl T. Compton of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Economic causes of war can be lessened by producing synthetically many materials heretofore obtainable only from natural deposits.

"To the extent that the scientist artificially produces petroleum, rubber, coal and other essential materials," he explains, "the need for employing armies and navies to acquire the world's natural resources will be removed." Scientific discovery and enrichment are limited only by the "capacity of our poor human minds."

Here is a reassuring note at a time when civilization needs encouragement. Such progress as Dr. Compton indicates might be made if scientific knowledge is used for constructive purposes rather than destruction. Given an era of peace, astonishing gains may be made along this line.

The injured pedestrian finds little satisfaction in recalling that he had the right of way.

Organized Walking

WALKING, which was once the means of getting from one place to another, became chiefly a means of exercise when mechanical transportation arrived. Now, according to a writer in Hygeia, it has become one of the "most popular organized sports."

There are said to be today 150,000 Americans organized in at least 200 hiking clubs and about 200,000 more "free lance" hikers. These figures probably take no note of Boy and Girl Scout groups and others for whom hiking is just one of various activities.

There are always rules for organized sport, and walking is not neglected. In the first place, says the authority, the walker needs to be in the right mood. "Hiking grimly and doggedly is an utter waste of time and effort." It produces neither pleasure nor health. It is unwise to overdo by walking too fast and likewise to "underdo" by walking slowly or for too short a distance.

Jobs For College Men

EARNINGS of college students and graduates have been rising. The director of New York university's bureau of employment reports that alumni and students who were placed by it last year earned an average of $91 more per capita than those who got jobs the year before. Many of the current jobs at the world's fair paid slightly better hourly rates and salaries than similar work elsewhere, though the employment director thought they were "generally fair" wages—neither too high nor too low.

College people generally have had better success obtaining work this year than in other recent years. This is as important a factor as the wages paid.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Events, not words, will largely determine whether and when the president will get congress to repeal the arms embargo.

Weeks before the special session began, the barrage of words had swelled to World war proportions. Yet no one could say that more than a vote or two had been switched one way or another among the closely-divided ranks for and against revision of the Neutrality act.

But in the month or two months the special session likely will last, events in Europe can materially shape public—and congressional—opinion. An outbreak of German "frightfulness" in the air or at sea would be an important factor.

It is a fair bet that corresponding "frightfulness" in the form of "retaliation" on the part of Britain or France would not stir corresponding sentiments in America. Public opinion already seems attuned to expect German "atrocities." And it would probably attempt to excuse or minimize "retaliation."

'Neutral Partiality.'

SINKING of the Athenia undoubtedly influenced much public opinion to a more friendly attitude toward England. A similar affair about Oct. 10 might work wonders in congress.

The attitude of partiality toward our old allies is so evident publicly and so widely held in the administration that advocates of embargo repeal now are seeking to point out that a nation can still be neutral and yet be partial.

This view has no standing at all among senators such as Nye of North Dakota, who interpret every step friendly to England as simply walking further into the war.

Our attitude toward Canada is cited as a sample of partiality as distinguished from neutrality. The president has stated that no foreign power will be permitted to conquer Canada. Certainly that is being very partial to an enemy of Germany. But is it unneutral to recognize something that is as well established as the movement of the tides? Defense of Canada is as much a part of our scheme of national protection as defense of North Dakota.

What's Overlooked.

WHAT is very much overlooked in the neutrality fight, moreover, is that the administration is seeking revision of the Neutrality act, not repeal. The administration is seeking to repeal only the section imposing the arms embargo. The measure drafted by the administration last session—and still officially supported—retains much of the old act and proposes, in addition, sharp increases of certain powers in the hands of the president.

One important increase would be to authorize the president to designate certain sections of the sea as "combat zones" from which American ships would be excluded. He has no such power now. It would allow the president to be terribly unneutral in designating such zones, as critics of the idea suggest. However, a president always can be unneutral in many, many ways, if he is so disposed.

The administration also sought to write out of the present act the section that prohibits arming of American merchant vessels against the submarine menace. But the house last session would have nothing of it, even though it accepted most of the rest of the administration's bill.

President Wilson tried to get authority to arm merchant vessels in the last war, but "a group of wilful men," some still in the senate, refused to let him have it. To arm American ships to fight their way through a blockade, submarine or any other kind, is exciting business.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, Sept. 22, 1919.

William M. Hahn, 71, died. He was a Civil war veteran, business man, political leader, and among Mansfield's best known citizens.

Common Pleas Judge Galbraith instructed grand jury to investigate high living costs and traffic law violations.

Board of education approved submitting $1,000,000 bond issue to build new high school and improve other school property.

Rev. Foster C. Anderson, of Mt. Vernon, was assigned to pastorate of First Methodist church here and Rev. W. R. Polhamus returned to Central Methodist pastorate.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Weldon entertained officers and teachers of First Presbyterian Sunday school at their home on Marion avenue.

Improvement of North Main street from South to Olive was completed.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, Sept. 22, 1934.

Mrs. Ambrose Middleton, Mrs. Philip Wolfe and Mrs. Sidney Palmer were named to state posts by the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs.

Announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Jane Phelps, 379 Sherman place, to Don Mathews, Houston, Tex.

Mrs. J. Harvey Dickson, Ausdale avenue, who was fishing in Ontario, landed a 20-pound muskellunge.

Miss Frances Ilene Wentz, Springfield township and H. Carl Leibel, Marion were married at Ontario Community church.

George Lane, 104 Marion avenue was struck by a brick, hurled by boys who were attempting to steal a porch swing.

Ohio University Honors McGuffey

OHIO UNIVERSITY, at Athens, oldest institution of higher learning in the Northwest Territory, is host to William Holmes McGuffey societies throughout the United States in a national McGuffey Centennial celebration being held on the campus today and tomorrow.

This two-day celebration marks the centennial anniversary of McGuffey's induction as president of Ohio university in 1839. McGuffey, author of famous Readers, served as president of Ohio university from 1839 to 1843.

Henry Ford, motor magnate, and the country's leading collector of McGuffey Readers, headlines the list of nationally-known persons expected to participate in the two-day celebration.

At the Saturday morning gathering, West Wing, campus building completed in 1839, will be dedicated as a national monument to McGuffey and will be renamed McGuffey hall. Robert G. Wilson, McGuffey's predecessor as president of Ohio university, is also to be honored at the celebration, and East Wing, another famous campus building, will be renamed and dedicated as Wilson hall. A banquet for McGuffey society representatives and other visitors will be held this evening, while the dedication ceremonies with McGuffey societies participating, will be the features of the Saturday morning program.

Listen, World!

Don't Let Yourself Be Hexed!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

GOTTA grudge against someone? Then here's a bit of old Malay magic which may come in handy—

"Take parings of nails, hair, eyebrows, spittle, and so forth of your intended victim, enough to represent every part of his person, then 'mold' them into his likeness with wax from a deserted bees' comb. Scorch the figure slowly by holding it over a lamp every night for seven nights, and say:—

"'It is not wax that I am scorching.

"'It is the liver, heart and spleen

"'Of So-and-So that I scorch.'

"After the seventh time, burn the figure and your victim will die."

—Old Malay Magic.

Quaint notion, wasn't it? But don't get the idea that the ancient Malays had a monopoly on such mumbo-jumbo. Some modern folks can go to town—plenty!—with the claw of a black cat, some powdered spider and a couple of warts. And Pennsylvania makes the front page, every few weeks, with a swell bit of "hexing."

All of which is innocent kiddie-play beside the hell-brew which the Propaganda Bureaus of the warring nations will shortly be pouring forth, and the demons they'll invoke. And I'm not spoofing!

Grin if you wish, but Black Magic was and is a very real thing and it accomplished very real results. Those results do not depend on a dead baby's toe-nail or the essence of a pulverised toad. They depend on something far more vicious . . . ON THE HATE AND FEAR FROM WHICH THEY SPRING AND WHICH THEY SET INTO ACTION. Men really died in slow agony when that wax figure was consumed, but they weren't killed by fire—THEY DIED FROM THE TERROR IN THEIR OWN HEARTS. THEY WERE MURDERED BY THEIR OWN BELIEF IN THE POWER OF HATE.

And the hate which wrought death and demoralization in a Malayan jungle will work as surely and effectively in our modern civilized world. For Hate and Fear are the same forever and ever. They are always deadly, the most venemous poison known to man. No machine gun, no plane or submarine or blast of poison gas can touch the damage which is done by Hate, or leave such lasting scars. One shrewd propaganda writer can do more devilry than a thousand "hex witches."

Remember the horror stories which were circulated in the last World war . . . unspeakable tales of toddling babes with severed hands . . . unprintable atrocities one handed on in whispers?

We couldn't and wouldn't believe those stories when we first heard them. But presently we were vowing, by all we held dear, that we'd "heard it from a man who'd met a man who'd seen a man who'd been there."

We know now that they were lies . . . foul, ruthless lies fabricated from blind prejudice, maliciously devised to rouse the world to murderous rage and drag America into the war . . . and they succeeded. But will we have sufficient sense to recognize them as lies when they start again . . . as they certainly will . . . and enough self-control to bar our minds against them?

ALREADY THE IMAGE IS BEING BURNED! HATE IS UNDER WAY. A month from now, it may not be possible to write truly about this peril. But while there is still chance, we should clutch this truth—WAR IS HELL BUT THAT DOES NOT IMPLY THAT ALL PEOPLES ARE HELLISH. The German people have been cruelly misled . . . as we Yankees might have been misled had we been starving, idle, shackled by treaties. BUT THE GERMAN PEOPLE, IN THEMSELVES, ARE NO MORE VICIOUS THAN THE ENGLISH, THE FRENCH, THE POLISH, THE AMERICANS.

Mate war. Study the things which make war . . . despise and arm yourself against those things. But do not let yourself be involved in their vicious voodoo by pernicious propaganda. DON'T LET YOURSELF BE HEXED!

(Copyright, 1939)

Timely Editorial

Already We Pay.

The cost of a war does not fall alone on those countries which are fighting. Everybody pays. It is a matter of degree.

The United States already is paying, just because it is in the same world with countries which insist on war. Many people already have been gouged by phony "war prices." Our armament burden has been boosted sky-high, all of which must be paid for in taxes, present or future. And one large insurance company already has adopted war risk regulations to cover issuance of future policies. "In case of . . . citizens likely for any reason to enter military or naval service or to be subjected as a civilian to the hazards of warfare, insurance cannot be issued," reads the regulation.

Thus it is that the burdens of war, like ripples from a stone cast into a placid lake, reach around the world.—Middletown Journal.

Daily Bible Thought

Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.—Matt. 5:9.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Nathan Hale was executed as a spy on this date in 1776 in New York City. He was accused of a hand in the disastrous fire in New York City the day before, when 300 houses were burned.

Health And Diet

Unprotected Disease Areas.

—By DR. CLENDENING

WE HAVE all heard stories of the ravages that result from introducing a new, contagious disease to the people of a South Sea Isle where the disease has never been before. Also of the diseases the Europeans gave to the Indians when they first came to America, and the diseases the Indian gave the white man who landed on these shores. In both cases they were devastating.

But we do not have to go far afield or to the distant past to know what a contagious disease will do when loose in an unprotected community.

You need go no farther than Oskaloosa, Iowa. One day last year a citizen of Oskaloosa complained of a fierce headache and backache. He was found to have a temperature of 102 degrees F. The doctor, in the absence of other evidence, thought it might be influenza, but wisely withheld a definite diagnosis; wisely, because two days later the patient broke out with a typical rash of smallpox.

200 In a Week.

Within a week 200 other people of that little community came down with smallpox.

The citizens woke up to the fact that they were as unprotected against the scourge of the Middle Ages as the natives of a South Sea Island when a boatload of shipwrecked European sailors, among whom was a case of smallpox, landed on their shores. Vaccination against smallpox had been neglected because instances of the disease were so rare.

But with the example of one case, they flocked to the doctors' offices to be vaccinated, and the epidemic stopped.

This is the regular history. In the Philippines, before the United States occupation, there were about 40,000 cases of smallpox a year. An aggressive vaccination campaign was carried out, and deaths dropped almost to zero in 1909. This lulled all fears, vaccination was neglected and when a severe epidemic hit them in 1918 there were 50,000 deaths. The army garrison, protected by vaccination, was in the very midst of this pool of contagion, but only one case was recorded.

Destruction Follows.

We have an enormous unvaccinated population in the United States. Whenever smallpox strikes there is destruction. In Colorado, in 1922, there were 1,086 deaths; in Detroit, in 1925, 175 deaths; in Minnesota, in 1925, 505 deaths. All preventable!

One of the best recorded instances of the introduction of a contagious disease to a new population was that of measles to the Faroe Islands, in the North Sea, as described by the Danish medical officer, Peter Pannum, in 1846.

Measles had not prevailed in the Faroes since 1781. The population was without immunity to the disease. After it struck, 6,000 of the 8,000 inhabitants of the islands were taken down with the contagion, adults as well as children. One hundred and two died. Yet, we regard measles as a mild disease.

Age brings a man knowledge of many things that he would rather not know.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—European censorship is tighter than in 1914, especially regarding Germany's deadly submarine campaign, but here is a concrete clue to what is happening on the submarine front. It indicates why the British lost their airplane carrier "Courageous," one of the severest blows of recent naval history.

Real fact is that the Germans now have 107 submarines, all operating in Allied waters. At this writing, the British have only sunk five, at which rate it will take a long time to clear the seas of the hidden menace to merchant shipping.

How carefully and how far in advance the Nazis prepared for their submarine war has only just been discovered by Allied strategists. It will be remembered that last April the German fleet suddenly steamed through the Kiel Canal into the North sea and down toward the coast of Spain. The Allied world was agog. Germany, it was feared, planned a sudden attack upon Gibraltar, or a combined Fascist-Nazi attack upon North Africa.

But it has now transpired that what the German fleet was up to was arranging bases for its submarines. In other words, Hitler didn't want his fleet to get bottled up in the Baltic, and he was looking a long time ahead.

British Muddle Through.

IN SEVERELY censored military reports from Great Britain it has been made to appear that a large number of British troops are in France. Real fact, however, is that only 15 to 20 thousand British troops are at the front, mostly motorized or aviation. More are being sent as soon as possible.

Another fact not known to the public, but undoubtedly known to German intelligence agents, is that only nine divisions will be available any time soon in the United Kingdom. Reason is that the army is scattered over the far-flung Empire—in Egypt, Palestine, Hongkong, Singapore and India—excellent soldiers, but of no value on the Western Front.

The nine divisions now training for France consist of new and hastily thrown together troops. Thus it will take some time before the British can give any real support to the French.

Note—Don't be surprised, however, if these British divisions never get to France, but are switched to Holland in a surprise attack upon Germany across an unguarded frontier. The penetration of the Siegfried line is going to be costly.

Short Shots.

The navy has put an immediate stop to the transfer of oil tankers from American to foreign registry. . . . U. S. Intelligence reports indicate that heavy Hitler bombing of cities along the Western Front can be expected once the U. S. neutrality debates indicate whether the act will be revised. Hitler has been pulling his air punches so as not to arouse American public opinion.

British Bulldog.

JUST a few hours before Soviet troops invaded Poland last week, Lord Lothian, new British Ambassador, informed his state department friends that he had definite word the Russian army was going to march, and that this meant the end of Poland.

He went on to say that Great Britain expected Hitler to follow his victory with a sweeping peace offer (probably via Mussolini), which would be aimed at getting France and Great Britain out of the war, but that under no circumstances would the British government accept. Instead of being prepared for three years, Lord Lothian said, the British actually were digging in for a ten years war.

Note—All reports from official U. S. observers in Europe substantiate Lord Lothian in regard to British determination to see the war through to the absolute end.

Thirty Years War?

What the French and British are up against in facing a united Germany and Russia probably is realized by few people in this country.

Some diplomats go even further than Lothian and think that Europe may see something akin to the Thirty Years War, which kept the entire continent bloody from 1618 to 1648 and completely ruined Germany.

The Thirty Years War was a conflict of princes and religious feud between Protestants and Catholics, which started in Germany and spread to France, Austria, Spain, Denmark, Sweden, Italy, England, Belgium, Holland—practically every country in Europe. Armies fought back and forth, slowly but relentlessly.

The present war, on the Allied side, is starting at a snail's pace. The French are conserving their manpower. The British are preparing methodically.

Religious similarity between the present and the Thirty Years war is the fact that this war is between Christian and anti-Christian countries. Both Russia and Germany have attempted to subdue, if not actually destroy traditional Christianity. Between them they have the most powerful industrial and military machines, and the greatest wealth of raw materials in the Eastern Hemisphere.

Such a war might conceivably last well over the ten years suggested by Lord Lothian. If so it will be the certain end of western civilization as we know it.

Note—It hasn't been proposed to Roosevelt yet, but some of his advisers believe that the United States could stop the war within a year, or even immediately, by issuing a flat ultimatum that unless there is peace it will throw its weight into the balance against the aggressors.

In the Melon Patch

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THIS clear cool morning I visited my neighbor's melon patch. He told me, late in May, he had planted two acres and invited me to come when they were ripe. I kept the vision of those two fertile acres in mind. Some years ago I saw him haul small truck loads to market from this same patch. I remembered, then, the tempting color of the fruit and the compelling fragrance as the truck drew past me. I had almost wished one rear wheel might drop into a rut, or hit a rock and dislodge a large juicy cantaloupe in my direction.

Now, with better luck, I was returning, on invitation of the owner. I knew his habit of rising just at dawn to harvest portions of his field when the melons were cool and while they held large drops of dew that sparkled in the level rays of morning sun. This was just the time.

I drove down the stony hill and followed fresh wheel tracks that wound into the hollow. He was working at the farther end. I parked my car and walked across so as not to injure the thrifty vines. Near the border of the woods I saw where groundhogs had raided, and farther on it was plain that crows had visited the field and plugged some of the finest specimens.

My neighbor saw me coming, some distance off, and waved a greeting with a melon in his hand.

"I'm glad to see you so early," he remarked. "I'm short of help."

"How many will you have this morning?" I asked.

"I figure on twenty bushels. I've ten already," and he pointed to a row of ten heaping baskets behind some weeds. "I've been down here since before five, and I hain't had my breakfast yet . . . when she calls I'll leave these baskets hid and run up the hill. Then I'll take the load direct from here to market, while they're cool."

I saw the smile of an expert gardener as he lifted three splendid Honey Rocks from off the vine. "What varieties have you?" I inquired.

"These Rocks are the best sellers, but I have the Wisconsin Hackensack and Hearts o' Gold."

He selected two of the best and we sat down beside the truck and sampled them. Wealth could not have supplied a more delectable repast. The meat was cold and sweet like nectar from Nature's own confection plant.

The morning sun shone warm upon our dripping ankles. Lines of yellow flowers, along the borders of the field, danced in the breeze and beyond the brook the pasture was purple with fringed asters.

CRIME TEARS ON + + + + +

By CAROLYN WELLS

(Copyright, 1939)

CHAATER XI

She went away, and when the doctor came in he found the two cousins awaiting him.

"Harley Madison sick?" he said. "That will never do! We can't keep that good man down! Let me at him."

"Wait a minute, Doctor," Craig said; "Uncle Harley is—is dead."

"What's that? What do you mean, young man?"

"Just what I said. Mr. Madison was found dead in his bed this morning. That's why my aunt sent for you."

"Let me go to him," the doctor said, "where's his room, Craig?"

The two cousins went upstairs with him, and the three went into the bedroom. A fine room it was, in the grandeur of a bygone period. Harley's wife had chosen early American furniture of mahogany, which was very authentic and very heavy. The great bed was a four-poster, dressed with a curtained canopy, bedspread and valance, all of bright colored chintz, with pleatings and rosettes, that looked like new.

And on the pillow lay the head of the dead man, as though he were in a natural sleep. He lay on his left side, straight, but relaxed, and there was no sign of any other than a quiet natural passing.

"Must have been a stroke?" Tom said, inquiringly.

"I can't think of it," Bascom replied: "he's only forty-five and sound as a nut. He had no organic trouble of any sort. You chaps leave me here alone for a bit, and I'll examine him further. It's the strangest thing I ever saw."

"Curare?" asked the irrepressible Tom.

Doctor Bascom stared at him.

"Certainly not. There is no hint of poison. But that, too, awaits further examination. Clear out, you two. And send me that handyman, Garson, I mean."

Meantime, Cornelia had gone on her difficult errand to tell Yvette the shocking news. She was uncertain how the girl would act, and almost equally uncertain how she wanted her to act.

But she wanted her to go away, that was certain.

So long as Harley had wanted her, it was all right, and she could stay, but now there was no Harley to want her, Miss Madison hoped the very disturbing young woman would go.

Yvette was waiting for her, with a breakfast tray for two near by.

She smiled as Miss Cornelia came in, and offered a seat at the little table.

"Hetty told me nothing," she said, "but that you are busy and troubled. So I just know a cup of hot coffee will help a little."

Cornelia sat down, and took a cup of coffee from Yvette, which she proceeded to sip slowly but steadily until she finished it. Then she spoke.

"I have sad news for you, dear," Cornelia began.

Yvette's hand flew to her throat.

"Not Harley?" she breathed, dramatically.

Through her own kaleidoscope of thoughts Cornelia's brain registered this seizure of the dramatic situation, by the clever actress.

"Yes," Cornelia said, gently; "yes, my dear, and I think you would rather be told frankly than to have me try to prepare you for it."

"Oh," Yvette's eyes widened, "Is he dead? Don't.—don't say that!"

Cornelia hardened a little. She hated anything like dramatics off stage, and she didn't want to take care of a hysterical girl.

"Yes, he is," she said, tenderly. "I feel more sorry for you, my dear, than I can tell you, but I have to ask you not to make a scene. I have so much to do. I have not yet told my guests, and I hoped I could depend on you for help. Real help, I mean, like telling Anita and Laura Lee."

"I want to help you, Miss Cornelia. I really do, but I have to run in to New York this morning. It is an imperative errand, one that affects my whole professional future. Please make no objection to my going, and I will come right back, and then I will help you. But do you realize that I have as much right to grieve over Harley as you have? More right, indeed, for had he lived my relation to him would be far closer than your own."

"I know, my dear, and I have every sympathy for you. Yes, go to New York, since it is so important, but come back early, can't you? I daresay. I hope. Anita and Laura will go home today. I have to see the village people, you know, they will all call, out of both kindness and curiosity. And then—then, Yvette, there is the question of the Village Improvement Plan. What will happen about that? But I must not bother you with these things. Nor do I want to. It was only that I forgot myself for a moment. I have my duties and I can see them clearly. I shall attend to them properly."

"Do you know you haven't told me anything about Harley? What did he die of? Is there any reason I shouldn't know?"

Cornelia was horrified at herself. She hadn't meant to be cruel to Yvette, but she was distracted, and the girl did put on theatrical airs.

"I am sorry," she said, sincerely. "I beg your pardon, but I am under great nervous strain. Harley was found dead in his bed this morning, by Wilkins and Elkanah. Doctor Bascom is with him now, and I suppose he will say it was a stroke. I will go and find out and come back and tell you."

"I will bring back a black frock or two with me. I can't seem to think. To be in the seventh heaven last night, and in the depths of woe this morning! I don't know how to stand it!"

Nearing histrionics, Cornelia went away, but she realized she must tell the other women herself. Yvette would not be back in time.

However, Anita had overheard things that made her curious and had ferreted the whole story out of Rosie. She sympathized with Cornelia, when she told her, and asked but one question.

She said, "Then, Cornelia, he died intestate, didn't he?"

Doctor Bascom came downstairs to find the living room a scene of leave-takings.

Laura and George Lee were telling Cornelia they felt it was kinder to her for them to go home than to stay. Gifford Hale was saying pretty much the same thing, but he was thinking that if there was any possibility of this death being a matter of inquiry, he'd rather get out while the getting was good.

Cornelia was truly glad to have them go. She was harassed by vague fears as to the men in the village who had become unfriendly to Harley.

But as the guests drove away, Doctor Bascom demanded her attention.

He was a doctor of the old school, which would have been nothing against him, if he had kept up with the discoveries and inventions of the new schools, too. Though less than average height, he believed he had an impressive presence.

"Miss Madison," he said, "I am now in a position to state my findings in the case of your brother's demise. As his attending physician, I can say positively, that Harley Madison was a well man. He had no organic troubles, no infirmities of age were upon him, and there is no indication of any illness that could account for his sudden death. Yet there must have been a reason. It must have been a disease of the heart of which I knew nothing. Such affections of the heart do sometimes develop suddenly, and bring about an unlooked for death. I do not declare positively that this is what happened in Mr. Madison's case, it will require an autopsy to prove it. I cannot grant a burial certificate, the way matters stand, and I desire to call a colleague in consultation."

"Very well, Doctor Bascom," Cornelia said. "I am perfectly willing you should have a consultation. Whom do you think of calling?"

"As the assistant medical examiner is a friend of mine, I would like to ask him to come and give us his opinion."

"Why," Craig exclaimed, "I thought he was called only in case of somebody being killed."

"I don't diagnose it that way," Bascom said, "but I hold that it is a mysterious death, and I feel sure if I call in another physician, he would at once send for the medical examiner, so I may as well call him myself."

"Very well," Cornelia said, wearily. "It is in your hands, Doctor Bascom. I want you to do what is right."

"Then I shall call Doctor Fenn."

Acting on impulse, but sure he was doing right, Craig called Fleming Stone on the telephone.

The two were good friends. Stone had taken a liking to the quick-witted and good-looking young man, and Craig looked upon the detective with hero-worship.

"Natural death, isn't it?" asked Stone. "Why call me?"

"The uncelebrated physician in charge of this hamlet says it is, but he also says it is mysterious."

"I'll run over at once, if you say so."

Fleming Stone reached the scene of Harley Madison's 'mysterious death' before the arrival of the assistant medical examiner.

Craig welcomed him and introduced him to Cornelia, who liked him at once. Everybody liked Stone. Intelligence and humor shone from his deep-set gray eyes, under their heavy brows. And he liked Cornelia. He recognized her fineness, her true aristocracy and her gentle dignity.

Anita planned to make a friend of him. Doctor Bascom was quite overcome with delight at the idea of working with the great man. For that was what it must come to. If Harley Madison did not die a natural death, from a stroke or a heart attack, and Bascom earnestly hoped he hadn't then it was a case of homicide, and what marvelous good fortune to have Fleming Stone right at hand.

"I welcome you, sir," he said, grasping Stone's hand. "I expect Doctor Fenn, our assistant medical examiner, and with his skill and your own experience and my own humble assistance, what can we not achieve?"

"What is to be achieved, Doctor Bascom?" Stone asked. "Since you have sent for the medical examiner, and since you look forward to my possible help, you must have a suspicion of homicide. Have you?"

"I can't say that I have, Mr. Stone. And yet, I cannot say that I haven't."

Stone wanted to say, "Then why talk at all?" but he restrained his desire and said, instead:

"You are quite right not to express an opinion, if you haven't one. Has Mr. Madison been ill?"

"No," Cornelia answered, "he has never been ill in his life, so far as I know. He went to bed last night, to all appearances in his usual perfect state of health; and this morning he is dead."

"Why do you call it a mysterious death, Doctor Bascom, when you mean only that you cannot discover the cause without an autopsy?"

Stone put on adverse criticism in his voice, but there was a hint of arraigning the doctor, who resented it.

Yet he swallowed his resentment, and said:

"It is mysterious to me because I knew the late Mr. Madison so well, and I know he had no conditions or symptoms that would make probable a stroke. We doctors learn our patients from studying their actions and reactions."

* * *

When the medical examiner came, he too expressed satisfaction at seeing Fleming Stone there. The two men had met occasionally in matters of criminal investigation, and Fenn wondered whether Harley Madison's death was due to crime.

The examiner turned to Bascom.

"Mr. Madison was your patient?" he asked.

"Yes, Doctor Fenn, if one may use the term patient for a man who was never ill. I have seldom seen a human being so absolutely healthy and free from even minor ailments."

"And what caused his death?"

"I don't know. And that is why I call it mysterious. I have made all the tests and examinations, but I can find no reason for his demise."

"Then it must be a matter of an autopsy. May I see him?"

"Yes, of course."

"Let's take Stone along," Doctor Fenn said; "he's a wizard at finding out things that you and I might overlook."

"I think we should go by ourselves first," Bascom demurred. "Mr. Stone, as I understand it, is an investigator, not a member of the medical fraternity."

"Yes, go along, you two," Stone said; "If I can be of any service you can call me."

The two doctors went upstairs.

Then Craig said, "I think they should have let you go up with them Stone, I know you think so much of seeing a place before it is touched."

"My dear boy," Stone said, "we're not talking of a homicide, are we?"

"Oh, no! no, indeed!" Craig said, "I don't know what old Bascom means by his 'mysterious.' But he's a pompous old windbag, and loves to stir up excitement."

"I don't think it's so much that," Cornelia told them, "as it is his ignorance. My brother could have died from many causes that Doctor Bascom wouldn't know anything about. He is an experienced, but not a learned man. I am glad Doctor Fenn is here, for he will tell us the reason for my brother's death. I hope you will stay the night, Mr. Stone, we should all be glad to have you."

"Oh, do," twittered Anita.

"Your brother was all right last night?" Stone asked Cornelia. He was not at all drawn to Anita.

"Entirely so," Cornelia replied. "We had a merry evening, and Harley was in the best of spirits, and the best of health. My brother lies as if in quiet sleep. His face is as composed as if he were alive."

"Mr. Madison might have eaten something that poisoned him. You had a feast last night?"

"Yes. But nothing unusual was served. The food and drink was all from our own pantries, and quite the same as we use all the time."

"Mr. Madison was at ease in his mind? He had no especial crises to meet or problems to solve?"

DUNCAN RENALDO, who spent nearly two years in prison and his entire fortune because he didn't know where he was born, is back at work again. The romantic lead of "Trader Horn" is now working in the Western series "The Three Mesquiteers" and glad for the opportunity. Renaldo had been told by foster parents that he had been born in Camden, N. J., and he put that on his passport. Immigration authorities started a check. Before they were done the government had spent $300,000, Renaldo $80,000 and his birth was "established" in four different countries. He has been literally a man without a country. He was sentenced to prison, but the government, considering his service in the American army during the World war, pardoned him and gave him the right to apply for citizenship papers. And now he has a job.

"Women" All About Men.

The road to Reno is paved with a woman's best friends and the things they told her. This, in short, is the theme of M-G-M's sensational comedy-drama, "The Women" which comes to Mansfield tomorrow, probably for a week, at the Ohio. "The Women" is all about men, although there actually isn't a man in it. But the cast of feminine stars and pulchritude is something new in picture history. Norma Shearer and Joan Crawford are starred and Rosalind Russell featured, (with reviewers saying that Miss Russell is actually the big star of the show). And in the supporting cast are Mary Boland, Paulette Goddard, Phyllish Povah, Joan Fontaine, Lucille Watson, Virginia Weidler, Ann Morriss, Ruth Hussey, Virginia Grey and a half dozen other women who are well known to theater goers.

It's An Old Trick.

A lot of young girls will sympathize with the heroine of "Stop, Look and Love," which opens an engagement at the Madison tomorrow. Although she's young and pretty and charming, she hasn't a beau because her ambitious mamma scares them all away by trying to rush each newcomer to the altar. The screen story is based on the stage hit of a number of years ago, "The Family Upstairs." Jean Rogers is the girl, William Frawley her understanding father and Mina Gombel her ambitious mother. Dick Grant is the only beau which manages to elude mamma's clutches, and therefore the successful one.

Rogers at Ritz.

Roy Rogers, the young Western star who appeared in Mansfield in person this summer, is the riding and shooting hero of "In Old Caliente" at the Ritz. It is a story of old California in the days when it was ruled by Spanish dons. Rogers has the support of Mary Hart, of George "Gabby" Hayes and Katherine DeMille, Jack LaRue as the villian. "You Can't Get Away With Murder" is another of the Warden Lawes prison dramas, with Humphrey Bogart.

Diverting Musical.

A diverting musical romance, "Rhythm In The Clouds" is one of the two features offered at the Park theater through Saturday. Patricia Ellis is seen as the pretty song writer who borrows another's name in order to get her songs published, while Warren Hull is the attractive young lyricist who swings to her support. "Special Inspector," a story of a series of Canadian fur robberies, with Charles Quigley and Rita Hayworth.

Story of Texas.

The Texas Rangers are the inspiration for "The Man From Sundown," which the Majestic is showing today and tomorrow as its regular Western feature. Charles Starrett is a Ranger who sets out to capture a bank bandit who has killed a rancher. Featured in the film are the radio stars, The Sons of Pioneers. Also shown is "Huckleberry Finn" with Mickey Rooney in the role of the Missouri river orphan who wouldn't wear shoes.

UNDER CHURCH

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—(U.P.)—It is probable many parishioners of Christ Church will be surprised to hear that there is a sealed tomb in the basement of the church. The WPA Historical Records Survey reports that the tomb was built soon after completion of the church in 1759. Ten bodies were placed there, including that of one of the builders, Henry Vassall, before the city ordered the tomb closed in 1865.

Melody Maids of Coon Creek

The four girls from the hills of Kentucky, who brought the folk songs of those hills to the White House last June for the King and Queen of England, will give the same songs to Mansfield, Saturday, when they appear at the Madison theater. They are the Coon Creek girls who are a part of the Renfro Valley Barn Dance, playing a one-day engagement here Saturday, including their regular WLW Saturday night broadcast.

Trees 'Talk' As Children Present Fantasy Tonight

This evening the Dickson gardens in Woodland will be the scene of such phenomonae as trees talking aloud, willows weepink and gypsies listening to strange tales in a haunted woods.

The Children's Theater and Junior Workshop will present on the natural stage of the gardens "The Talking Forest" which was written by a Mansfield girl—Miss Roselyne Zychick. It will be the first time the play has been presented.

The cast is the largest that has been used in any of the children's productions and the scenery is more elaborate.

Sarah Ann Hodgson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Reynolds Hodgson, will play the leading role, that of Teska, daughter of the gypsies. George Ridenour plays Igor, king of the gypsies. Other speaking parts are being taken by Mary Buhr, Patricia Sarbry, Ann Burns, Patsy Weamer, George Porterfield, Shirley Bowers, Joan Beard, Robert Beatty, Warren Redhair, John Bishop, Diane Frickman, Marilyn Joyce Teeter and Erma Jenkins.

The "talking trees" will be played by Frank Lane, Bonnie Reed, Jane Manz, Kitty Bushnell, Warren Alverson, Edward Maxwell, Stuart Sarbry and Mary Jo Hunter.

The gypsy dancers are Carrol Ann Thompson, Susan Stoodt, Portia Schiller, Jacquelyn Williams, Susan Biddle, Doris Alverson and Barbara Bowles. Goblins are Katharine Beatty and Roanne Farry.

USE LIPSTICK

MT. SHASTA CITY, Ore.—(U.P.)—Sooty-faced forest fighters with bright-red lips required some explanation here. Supervisor M. H. Davis furnished it by explaining that several of the men and boys on the fire line reported painfully chapped and dried lips and the only thing found satisfactory for relief was lipstick.

Vendol Wins More Victories Here in Mansfield Every Day

"I Can Never Praise It Enough," Says Mrs. Sampsel. Sour indigestion, Cramps, and Other Troubles Due to Constipation Relieved.

Scores of your friends and neighbors right here in Mansfield, happy and grateful for sufferings relieved, are flocking to Central Drug Store to get Vendol, and many report what it has already done for them.

They tell how this justly famous medicine has relieved them of long-standing cases of acid, nervous indigestion; gas; bloating; pains and cramps; quivering nerves that get them out of bed several times every night; aching pains across the back and down through the legs; and other troubles due to constipation or need of diuretic to the kidneys. For instance, Mrs. Charles Sampsel, living on Trimble Road, Mansfield, says of this great Root, Herb, and Alkaline medicine—

"After suffering for years from constipation, Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets gave the most satisfying relief from this trouble; then the miserable acid condition in my stomach was relieved; whereas before it looked as though everything I ate turned my stomach so sour it made me sick. Often the gas was so terrible I could hardly breathe. My nerves kept me awake and I felt bad most all the time.

THE VENDOL MAN
At Central Drug Store

"But all that is changed, and now I eat without a fear of trouble later on; my sleep is restful without being up once during the night. I feel so much better in every way that I can't praise it enough, and advise everyone to try it."

Start on Vendol today, and see how quickly you too begin to feel better. See the Vendol Man at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., and he will tell you all about this remarkable medicine and what it can do for you. Leading druggists everywhere sell and recommend it.—Adv.

TAX RATE FOR SCHOOLS UP .8 MILL NEXT YEAR

Retirement of First Bonds for Building Program Hikes '40 Figure to 8.20 Mills.

A 1940 tax rate of 8.20 mills for the Mansfield school district, representing an increase of .80 of a mill over the 1939 rate, had been approved today by the board of education.

The new rate includes 5.90 mills for operating purposes and 2.30 mills for debt retirement. This year the operating rate was 5.80 mills while 1.60 mills was collected for debt purposes.

Contributing most to the increase is the $550,000 school bond issue voted last year for a building program. The bonds will be paid off over a 20-year period, with the amount needed becoming less each year.

4 Rates Unchanged.

Rates for three townships and the Bellville school district also had been approved today, all of them remaining the same.

The Bellville rate will be 5.60 mills; Monroe township, 3 mills; Mifflin township, 2.80 mills, and Plymouth township, 2.85 mills.

Plymouth is the only township in the county with bonded indebtedness, Deputy County Auditor Arthur S. Beck said. The township is still paying on road bonds voted in 1911 and 1914.

Chiropractors Charged With Practicing Without Licenses.

Arraignment of two Shelby chiropractors before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston on a charge of practicing without licenses, scheduled for Thursday afternoon was continued at the request of the defendants.

Cited in affidavits signed by Frank A. Dorsey, state medical inspector, were H. G. Rinehart, 41 West Main street, and B. D. Lash, 23 North Gamble street, Shelby.

Dorsey charges that Rinehart and Lash displayed signs advertising themselves as chiropractors although neither had obtained a license. The affidavits were filed in common pleas court.

West Must Keep Civilization Intact, Hull Declares

SCORES 'BRUTE FORCE' TO WIN NATIONAL AIMS

Secretary Asserts Western Hemisphere Has Task of Showing Way of Peace.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK — Secretary of State Cordell Hull dedicated western hemisphere nations today to the task of preserving civilization which, he said, the European war threatens to obliterate.

Speaking at Pan American day ceremonies at the World's fair, Hull deplored the "state of affairs in which callous disregard of law and morality, with resort to brute force and unbridled violence, are the methods deliberately chosen for the attainment of national aims."

His address followed President Roosevelt's appeal to congress yesterday to help keep this country out of war by repealing the mandatory embargo on arms to warring nations.

Hull referred to recent wars of aggression which "have retarded our material progress and filled us with anxiety and apprehension." The European hostilities in three weeks, he said, "have laid a heavy hand upon many phases of the lives of our nations."

Because of "the disastrous deterioration of international morality," he said, the western hemisphere nations are charged with the task of preserving civilization somewhere on earth, of co-operating to insulate the hemisphere from war and its shocks, and of working to foster an international system "based upon justice, fair dealing, mutual respect, co-operation and the sanctity of agreements, freely made, faithfully observed and honorably altered by peaceful methods when need arises."

He congratulated western hemisphere nations that peace reigned in this part of the world, and said, "among us, small countries do not feel menaced by their powerful neighbors."

"Among us, no group of nations is allied against any other group," he said.

"Our peace does not rest on fear.

"There is a poignant contrast between what we behold here and the soul-searing pictures of suffering and destruction brought to us hourly from those portions of the earth in which armed hostilities are now taking place."

This contrast, he said, should strengthen the determination in this hemisphere to work for a system of relations based on peaceful progress. Causes of disagreement still exist here, he said, but "mechanisms for resolving them have been set up by mutual agreement."

The conferences of American states have accomplished real benefits, Hull said, pointing out that the 21 American republics now are assembling at Panama City to take "the measures necessary to safeguard the peace of the Americas."

A Word to Hunters and Squirrels, Too; Monday's the Day

Attention, you Richland county squirrel hunters! And squirrels, too.

The open season for gray and fox squirrels opens Monday in Ohio and continues through Oct. 30.

Reports from State Conservation Commissioner Don Waters at Columbus said that in addition to private lands, hunters this year will be admitted to more than 100,000 acres of public lands.

While none of the additional acreage is in Richland county, it includes forest reserves in Scioto, Ross, Hocking, Vinton, Pike and Lawrence counties.

Hunters on these will be required to register upon entering the grounds and to exchange their licenses for permit cards. The licenses will be returned when the hunters depart and their game inventoried.

ALLOTS $2,780 IN RELIEF FUNDS

State to Finance One-Third of City-County Expenditure for August.

The state allotted Mansfeild and Richland county $2,780 today to apply on relief bills totaling $8,510 for August.

To get the money, the city and county had to put up about twice as much under the state's matching plan. The financing basis required 67.3 per cent from the city and county and 32.7 per cent as the state's share.

Mansfield, with the major relief load, received $1,692. The county got $1,088 and Shelby, which has its own relief area, received $311.

The subdivisions must make up the difference between the total relief costs and the funds they get from the state and then produce matching funds to be eligible to share in state money for the following month.

Under the new matching plan the state can allocate only $750,000 a month to counties regardless of how much they provide for matching. Allocations are made on the basis of the relief needs of the counties and cities.

HUNT LAUNCHED

Ashland Authorities Search for Missing Loan Manager.

ASHLAND—Ashland county authorities today had launched a search for Ray S. Reinhardt, 35, manager of the Ashland branch of the Mansfield Provident Loan company, whom Sheriff Dale Hammond said is wanted for forgery and operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

Reinhardt is accused of forging a note in the sum of $650 to purchase an automobile and registering the automobile under the name of James V. Motter, the sheriff said. The missing loan manager is said to have used aliases of James V. Motter and J. E. Harrison, according to the sheriff.

2ND FUGITIVE BACK IN O. S. R.

Inmate in Quartet That Fled 10 Days Ago, Picked Up in Summit County.

The second of four trusties who escaped from the Ohio State reformatory 10 days ago was back in custody today.

Clark Icenhauser, who fled from a work gang repairing the administration building outside the walls with three other prisoners on Sept. 12, was picked up by Summit county authorities yesterday, Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said.

Harley Keller who surrendered two days after his escape to the sheriff at Dayton was returned to the institution Monday. The other two members of the quartet are still at large.

Icenhauser was committed to the reformatory from Summit county in February to serve a one to 15 year sentence for burglary.

Meanwhile Glattke reported that Joseph Davis, 27, who escaped from the institution seven years ago was returned today from Columbus where he was apprehended by Franklin county authorities.

Davis escaped from the institution greenhouse on Aug. 20, 1934, two years after he had been sentenced to serve one to 20 years on an auto theft charge.

Physician Named to Head County's Anti-T. B. Drive

Dr. Lincoln Fisher, Mansfield physician, was appointed today as medical director to head the county's anti-tuberculosis program in 1940.

Named by the county T. B. advisory committee and the county commissioners, Dr. Fisher will supervise treatment of tuberculosis patients in convalescent homes and make recommendations for treatment.

Dr. Fisher was endorsed for the post by the Richland County Medical society. The amount of his salary will be determined by the county commissioners. It will be paid from a fund provided by a half-mill tax levy which will produce about $45,000 a year, beginning next year.

The appointment was made at a meeting of the advisory board and commissioners this morning at the courthouse. It was the first session of the new board of six members appointed several weeks ago by commissioners. Dr. John S. Hattery is chairman of the group.

LEGION ELECTS

NEW WASHINGTON — E. P. Wenninger was elected commander of Carl A. Geiger post No. 405 of the American Legion at a meeting held Wednesday evening.

U-BOAT SUNK?

LONDON — (NS) — A British trawler steaming at full speed in a gale, presumably in the North sea, is believed to have accidently rammed and sunk a German U-boat, it was announced today.

BRITAIN SELLS A 'BLUE BOOK,' PINNING WAR GUILT ON HITLER

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—The British government seeks to pin the war guilt on Adolf Hitler and his lieutenants with a diplomatic best seller—a "blue book"—which was put on sale for a shilling (20 cents) at his majesty's stationery shop.

Sir Nevile Henderson, who was British ambassador to Berlin, enlivened the collection of speeches, telegrams and letters with comment on leading Nazi actors in the diplomatic drama which preceded the war.

The envoy reported:

That a week before German troops invaded Poland the 50-year-old fuehrer told Sir Nevile he "preferred war now to when he would be 55 or 60."

That during an "unpleasant interview" with Joachim Von Ribbentrop on Aug. 30 the German foreign minister "was aping Herr Hitler at his worst."

That Hitler suggested a German alliance with Britain at Poland's expense.

That the fuehrer "did not seem enthusiastic" over the pact with Soviet Russia.

That Hitler said Japan would be the "winner" of a European war.

Meanwhile, Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, prepared to increase the already steep taxes.

The British taxpayer now pays the government $1.10 out of every pound sterling ($3.96) he earns.

Siren Installed, Ashland Police, Fire 'Feud' Ends

ASHLAND — Installation of a new fire siren here was expected today to put an end to rumors of an alleged "feud" between the fire and police departments over the ringing of the alarm.

Members of both departments were accused recently of being at loggerheads over the alleged refusal of the police department to ring the alarm when there was a fire. Mayor Art Mason later explained that he had instructed police not to ring the bell in order to economize.

The new siren, installed on a 30-day trial, is operated from one switch which sounds the alarm and turns all traffic lights red to enable fire engines to get through traffic. Firemen will throw the switch.

STRIKES SCHOOL BUS, ARRESTED

Newark Man, 70, Pleads Guilty to Carelessness; 23 Pupils Unhurt in Crash on Hill.

One hour after he collided with a loaded school bus this morning, Francis F. Funk, 70, Newark, pleaded guilty in municipal court to a charge of careless and reckless driving and was fined $50 and costs and his operator's license suspended for 90 days.

Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch suspended $25 on condition that Funk pay for the damages to the bus.

State highway patrolmen testified that Funk's automobile rammed into the rear of a school bus, operated by John G. Houston, 24 North Franklin avenue, as it stopped on route 13, two miles south of Mansfield.

They said 23 children en route to Woodville in the coach were uninjured as Funk's car crashed into the left rear corner of the bus near the crest of a hill.

Funk, a retired railroad conductor told the court that he could not stop and started around the bus when a truck approaching over the hill, caused him to ram into the parked vehicle.

35 TAKE PART IN STYLE SHOW

Girls Display Clothes They Made; Winners Given Prizes.

Thirty-five young Mansfield girls, members of the National Junior Sewing club, presented a style show of the clothes they had made themselves last night at the Singer Sewing Machine company room on Park avenue west.

About 50 guests witnessed the show. Miss Betty Flegal, 22 Swanger avenue, won first prize and the opportunity to compete in the district and state shows. Blue ribbon winners were Kathryn Ann Fensch, Virginia Shambaugh, Patricia Nell Steele, Eudie Smotherman and Helen Moore. Each of them received material for new dresses, and all of the participants in the class were presented with membership pins.

Judges for the style show were Miss Mary Lemley, Mrs. L. C. Marshall and Mrs. Nina Beck.

YOU see pictured here the magnificent automobile that value-wise is next year's No. 1 car.

That's absolute net. We who dreamed it, built it, tested it, tell you cold-turkey it is Buick at its unbeatable best.

Every one of its 12,000 parts is a better part than we've been able to make before.

Every one of its 44 different types of steel is the finest for its job that money can buy—five of its special alloys were not even in existence 10 years ago.

When this uncatchable smoothie went foxfooting through its paces on the General Motors proving ground, a ripple of wonder ran like quicksilver through the men who watched its going.

You'll feel it—you'll marvel, too—when you feel this incredibly active, staunch, exciting mechanism come alive under your hands—this car that brings to flower the best that Buick knows.

From the velvet velocity of its straight-eight Dynaflash engine to the superb way it handles and answers controls, it's as full of new-day features as an egg is full of meat.

Go see this beauty, drive this dream-come-true! All fire and sparkling spirit, it's a glory of gallantry-and-obedience on wheels.

It's a honey, it's a bearcat, it's a lamb!

GERMANS PLAN LIGHTNING BLOW AT WEST FRONT

London Says Nazi Aircraft and Troops Being Moved Up for Thrust.

question which the British intelligence department is studying with closest concern.

It is known that the Germans have not yet been able to transfer appreciable divisions and equipment from Poland, where it is estimated that the Germans used a thousand planes.

It is recalled that Germany has overrun but has not yet mastered vast areas of Poland and will be delayed for some time yet, possibly postponing a lightning decision in the west.

British authorities frankly admitted that the Germans displayed a brilliant new war technique in Poland, demoralizing enemy concentrations by closest cooperation between aircraft and armored vehicles of amazing speed.

It remains to be seen, however, whether this technique will be equally effective on the less favorable terrain of northern France.

French Launch New Saarbruecken Drive.

PARIS — (AP) — A new drive against the German industrial city of Saarbruecken was reported today by the French general staff.

A military communique which gave few details indicated a recent lull had been shattered by new French maneuvers and advance guard skirmishes.

Artillery on both sides, the communique said, was active along the entire front from the Moselle river along the Luxembourg-Germany frontier to the Rhine river, which becomes the boundary between France and Germany 100 miles to the southwest.

The French empire's black Senegalese troops were reported en route to the western front in the war which Premier Daladier declared would end German attempts at "world domination."

Sharpshooters mobilized from France's colonial reservoir of manpower were said to be moving up the west coast of Africa in guarded transports.

Observers saw indications in Daladier's world broadcast speech last night that France and Britain might wage a "defensive" war—at least on the land.

He said the commanders "have known how to avoid unconsidered and murderous offensives."

This was taken by some to indicate that large scale offensives of the World war "big push" type would not be launched and that emphasis would be laid on airplanes and a naval blockade to sap Germany's strength gradually.

French Occupy 80 Nazi Towns, Report.

BASEL, Switzerland — (AP) — French army units—striking a wedge toward the heavily-manned Siegfried line—were said today to have occupied more than 80 German towns and villages in the Saar-Moselle triangle northeast of French-German-Luxembourg border junction.

A German "buffer line" on front of the westwall defense was reported doggedly resisting the methodical advance of French troops into the Apex of the Saar-Moselle triangle.

French pressue along the Moselle, which separates Luxembourg and Germany, was being increased, observers said. The renewed activity followed a lull described as "strategic waiting" during which both sides jockeyed for positions of advantage for a possible "big push."

Word reaching Basel indicated the German defenders had been forced back from the key rock—a strategic pinacle on the western bank of the Saar river.

The rock was fortified as an advance unit of the Siegfried line—a watch dog over smaller defense works in the Saarburg forest.

Meanwhile observers in Switzerland watched news of artillery action, confident the big guns of the Maginot line would thunder the first clue to French and British plans to crack the Siegfried line.

Artillery in the Sierck forts—ahead of the Maginot main line near where the Moselle river flows across the border into Germany—was said to have shelled small German forts in the Moselle valley.

There were accounts, too, that the French big guns in forest forts at Bouzonville, Boulay, Stavold and Sarreguemines—along a 20-mile front—hammered at Germany's westwall between Saarlautern and Saarbruecken.

come news to German although it was generally believed that, as far as possible, military planners had anticipated such a development.

The general impression was that lifting of the embargo—while technically seeming to treat all war nations alike—actually would be to the disadvantage of Germany because of Great Britain's power on the Atlantic.

Not one Berlin morning newspaper mentioned Mr. Roosevelt's message although it was delivered hours before press time.

Unofficial opinion, however, noted with satisfaction that the president had expressed determination to keep the United States out of war and had struck what they regarded as a note of independence from Great Britain.

The high command's daily communique acknowledged that fighting continued around Warsaw and said a battle with Poles who had held out at Tomaszoe, about 65 miles southwest of Warsaw, "has been victoriously concluded." Only isolated shock troop operations were reported on the western front.

Having more than 240,000 Polish war prisoners to feed, authorities have decided to make them work in industry. Until now, Germany has used captured Poles as farm hands.

German authorities, meanwhile, were preparing further food rationing. After Monday, it was reported, there will be no further milk for adults.

700 Killed By German Shells, Warsaw Claims.

LONDON — (U.P.) — The Warsaw radio station, still going strong at 1:30 a. m.. (7:30 p. m. Thursday EST) announced that German shells and airplane bombs had killed 700 civilians, mostly women and children, yesterday, and had "gutted" both the German and Soviet embassies, wounding several members of the Soviet staff.

The broadcasts heard here and elsewhere in Europe, said that several churches and four hospitals had been bombed, including one established by the Red Cross and "on which numerous Red Cross flags had been hoisted."

The communique gave no indication that the city's defenders were weakening on the 14th day of one of the most devastating sieges of modern times. It was on Sept. 8 that German motorized units first swept into the suburbs from the southwest, to be hurled back. The city had been surrounded 10 days. No more food or ammunition could get in and at Budapest, Warsaw's Mayor Stefan Starzynski was heard announcing that the bread situation might soon become critical because there were only a few flour mills in the city and one already had been destroyed by bombs.

Nevertheless, almost every Warsaw broadcaster reiterated that the defenders would "fight to the last man and cartridge."

The 1:30 a. m. "defense command communiquez" said that north of the city, "the enemy, supported by heavy artillery fire, attacked violently the Annopols-Brudno-Saska-Kepa sector but all attacks were repulsed.

task by that time was mainly one of occupation.

This system exactly confirms information given me by General Jose Solchaga in Barcelona in February, Solchaga said it would be proved that development of military aviation as a complement to infantry in attack was the most important lesson of the Spanish war.

If the Germans cannot get their mechanized forces in shape, they will be forced to risk waiting until spring. This has disadvantages because time unquestionably works against the Nazis. If they wait until spring, it is the general expectation that the Germans will launch an aerial war of frightfulness during the winter.

They are expected to use information that their espionage services supplied them in recent years to attack factories and communication centers and bombard big cities in order to terrorize the civilian population.

The question is whether the superior planes and pilots of the allies can offset German superiority in numbers. In this connection, I learned at one point on the front that American Curtiss planes brought down two of Germany's highly-touted Messerschmidts in the first dog-fights of the war this week.

The beneficial psychological effect of this was enormous. The French I talked to made no secret of their desire for more American planes and equipment and even volunteer pilots as soon as possible, as their aid would be of immense value in this first critical year.

On my return from the front, I slept at Nancy. I found this beautiful old city, like all others in the northern and eastern regions, completely prepared.

Shops were solidly boarded up everywhere. The fine hotels on famed Stanislas Square were all closed. The town was completely black at night without even pilot lights showing.

I took a different route back to Paris than the one I followed en route to the front, but I found the same state of mobilization and preparedness that I described yesterday.

I found first-aid hospitals thoroughly organized, with girls and young women—in some cases even nuns—driving ambulances.

2 WOMEN HURT

Injured as Car Strikes Gas Station Near Ashland.

ASHLAND — Two Ashland county women suffered minor injuries when the car in which they were riding ran into the Elliott gasoline station on route 60, south of here, at 6:15 p. m. Thursday, when the driver lost control of the car as the result of a tire blow out.

Mrs. O. A. Quinn of New London, driver of the car, was taken to Samaritan hospital where it was found she received lacerations of the left arm and body bruises.

Riding with Mrs. Quinn was a Mrs. Sackett who received minor body injuries. Mrs. Sackett's address was not learned by county officials who investigated the accident.

Mrs. Quinn told authorities that she lost control of the car when the tire blew out. There was no one in the station at the time of the accident, authorities said.

2 Crestline Men Jailed on Counterfeiting Charges

OFFICERS FIND EQUIPMENT IN ONE OF HOMES

Federal Agent, Marshal Pick Up Suspect in Plant Here, Other in Crestline.

Arrested last night in Mansfield and Crestline on affidavits charging them with making counterfeit money, two Crestline men were taken to Toledo today for arraignment before a U. S. commissioner in federal court.

Held on the charge were Philip Stefel, 26, who was arrested at the Humphryes Manufacturing company plant, Mansfield, where he was working, and Herbert Ritchie, 34, arrested on a Crestline street.

The pair was taken into custody by Ira I. Brought, a federal secret service agent, and Marshal R. L. Mick of Crestline who confiscated counterfeiting equipment said to have been used by the men.

Pass Coins In Lake Cities.

Marshal Mick said approximately 100 counterfeit coins of five, 10 and 25-cent denominations had been located at Sandusky and in other Lake Erie cities where Stefel and Ritchie are believed to have passed them.

After taking the pair into custody, the officers went to the home of Stefel's mother, Mrs. John Stark, at 1007 Railroad avenue, Crestline, where they found the counterfeiting equipment in the basement.

Included were several plaster of Paris moulds for making nickels, dimes and quarters, a blow torch, a quantity of lead and a bag of plaster of Paris for moulds. The equipment was removed to Toledo.

The officers said the arrests were made on a "tip" from Crestline. The federal agent had been working on the case for several days, it was understood, and Marshal Mick joined him yesterday.

2-Day Celebration Honoring McGuffey Opens At Ohio U.

ATHENS—(U.P.)—A two-day celebration in honor of William H. McGuffey, author of the "McGuffey readers" of the little red schoolhouse area, begins tonight at Ohio university. Educators and representatives of McGuffey societies throughout the nation will take part in the ceremonies, which commemorate the 100th anniversary of McGuffey's presidency of Ohio university.

The celebration also will honor Robert G. Wilson, McGuffey's predecessor as head of the college.

Speakers at the celebration will include McGuffey's granddaughter, Miss Henrietta Hepburn, professor of English at Marshall college; Ohio university's president, Herman G. James and Dean H. C. Minnich; and Mayor Clifford Cornell of Athens.

Henry Ford, Detroit industrialist and owner of one of the nation's largest McGuffey collections, was scheduled to appear but was compelled to cancel his engagement.

Woman Poisoner Held Guilty In Mandatory Death Sentence.

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The first woman convicted of murder in Philadelphia's insurance slayings case—a slim widow found guilty last night of putting out the life of her lamplighter husband with poison—met calmly today a verdict making mandatory a sentence of death.

Dark-eyed Josephine Romualdo, 44, native Brazilian and once a cigaret roller in a tobacco factory, displayed no emotion as a jury pronounced her guilty.

29TH SHIP LOST

New British Vessel Sunk; France Loses One, Germany 4.

LONDON—(INS)—British merchant shipping suffered its 29th loss of the war today when the 1567-ton Arkleside was sunk, presumably by a German submarine.

Since the opening of the war on Sept. 3, Britain has lost 29 merchant ships for a total of 141,573 tons. France has lost one ship, German four, and neutrals six.

Up and Down THE STREET

A resourceful Mansfield young woman, weary from a series of parties, has devised a way to get home earlier in the evening to catch up with her sleep. Yesterday she greeted a friend who will be hostess at a party tonight, with this "thank you" message: "I want to tell you now that I enjoyed your party tomorrow night, so I won't have to wait in line then to thank you for the nice time."

William A. Duff, a former Mansfield newspaperman, who now conducts a column on past events in the Ashland Times-Gazette, recalled in a recent article that it was 35 years ago last night that the March King, John Philip Sousa, and his famous band appeared in Mansfield. The big event was staged in the old Memorial opera house.

R. B. Gardner, state commander-elect of the American Legion, disclosed at the Chamber of Commerce membership meeting at the Westinghouse plant last night where he got the nickname "Mud." Asked by C. L. VanDerau, president of the chamber as he was introduced where he got "such a name," Gardner revealed that it was "hung on" him in Bellville where as a youth he was always swimming in the creek. "The creek was full of mudsuckers, a kind of fish, and the kids called me 'Mudsucker.' Later, they shortened it to 'Mud' and after I wrote my name on the blackboard in school one day as 'Mud Gardner' the 'Mud' stuck," he explained.

As usual it's the guessing contest that attracts the most interest at the Fredericktown street fair which is being held this week. Hundreds of Mansfielders attending the traditional fair pass right by the valuable and rare antiques, linens and agricultural products to crowd around the display in the Dan Struble and Son bank window. It is an old treasure chest upset, with a shower of new 1939 pennies flowing out of it. The guesses are about the number of pennies in the chest.

OFF TO CHICAGO

Mansfielders Going to National Legion Convention.

Mansfield American Legion and auxiliary representatives will go to Chicago over the week-end to attend the national convention of American Legion, which opens there Sunday.

R. B. Gardner, department commander of the Ohio Legion, will head the group as a delegate-at-large. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner will leave tomorrow afternoon. Hollis D. Moorhead, a Mansfield 40 and 8 delegate, with his wife and Mrs. William Henry, will leave Sunday morning. Mrs. Walter L. Beckley, past president of the Ohio Legion Auxiliary, and a member of the state advisory council, will also attend.

The convention is expected to develop a lively discussion of the neutrality questions.

The Legion's pet objective, that of universal service, which the organization has sought to have adopted as a national act, is certain to be stressed again this year, Gardner said. The plan provides for universal conscription of civilians, and wealth in time of war.

RELIEF NEARS

California Counts 50 Dead From Record Heat.

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The heat still is on in California but weather bureau officials said they believed an end to a week of tropical weather was in sight.

Health authorities said more than 50 Californians had died directly or indirectly from the heat. Los Angeles had 30 fatalities. Six succumbed in the San Francisco bay area.

TAKE PRISONERS

Britain Takes Captured Germans To London Prisons.

LONDON—(AP)—A ministry of information communique today said "a number of German officers arrived at a prison camp in England yesterday. Other prisoners also were taken to another camp."

It was recalled that Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons Sept. 15 that some prisoners had been taken in British successes against German submarines.

JURY GETS BABY SLAYING CASE

Fremont Jurors Deliberate on Fate of Mrs. Fink, Held in Son's Death.

(By Associated Press)

FREMONT—A jury of eight women and four men retired at 10:48 a. m. today to decide the fate of Velma Baker Fink, attractive Clyde divorcee charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of her 10-week-old son.

As Judge A. V. Baumann instructed the jury and as the prosecution made its closing argument, the pale mother frequently sobbed. Her father, Oren Baker, comforted her.

Judge Baumann outlined five possible verdicts, and told the jurors that it was not necessary for the defense to prove Mrs. Fink insane "beyond a reasonable doubt" but only to prove she was "probably" insane at the time of the killing.

The defendant pleaded innocent by reason of temporary insanity induced by the child's caesarian birth.

The jurist outlined these possible verdicts:

Conviction of first-degree murder, making death mandatory; conviction of first-degree murder with a recommendation for mercy, fixing the penalty at life imprisonment; conviction of second-degree murder, also calling for a life sentence but with possibility of a parole after 10 years; complete acquittal, or acquittal by reason of insanity.

WAR PLAYS HAVOC WITH BUDGET IN HURRY, HOUSEWIFE LEARNS

Mrs. Housewife went to the corner grocery today to purchase the ingredients of an average family dinner and found that it cost her a total of $2.83.

Of course, there was more food in her market basket than was needed for one meal for her family, but then some of the items were staples and were to restock the cupboard.

In checking the cost of the order, she found that the same purchase a month ago would have cost her only $2.33.

Her bulging market basket had cost exactly 50 cents more than it would have before the war guns of Europe echoed across the Atlantic and played havoc with the family budget.

For dinner she had planned, for her family of four, pork chops, baked potatoes, green beans, tomato and lettuce salad, apple pie, coffee and milk.

Pork chops were the first item purchased. Loin cuts cost 34 cents a pound, seven cents more than they were three weeks ago.

Two pounds of lard cost her 13 cents. Before the "war buying scare" it had cost nine cents. A five-pound box of granulated sugar was 39 cents. The same amount used to be 29c.

Her five-pound bag of all-purpose flour had increased five cents. She paid 23 cents as compared with 18 cents three weeks ago, while a pound of print butter which was 29 cents cost her 36 cents.

Potatoes, she discovered, were up too. Instead of paying 25 cents for a peck of Idaho bakers, these cost her 35 cents.

There the price rise ended. The rest of her dinner, she found cost her only the normal price.

Green string beans were two pounds for 15 cents; her favorite brand of coffee cost 27 cents; milk and cream were normal while tomatoes and lettuce and apples, all in season, were cheaper than a month ago.

She was told by the grocer though, that if she wanted canned vegetables or fruits or sea foods that she would have to pay as much as six cents a can more than when she last purchased these items.

PICK ASHLANDER

Otterbein Freshmen Select Barr to Head 'Scrap Day.'

An Ashland boy, Wayne Barr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Barr and a member of the freshman class at Otterbein college has been appointed class-chairman of a committee in charge of "Scrap Day" activities there, Sept. 27. The all day program, a contest held annually between sophomores and freshmen, will include relay races, tug-of-war, and sack-rushing. A picnic will be held in the evening.

Wayne Barr

Barr is a member of the largest class to enter Otterbein in the last 15 years. He was graduated from Ashland high school this year, having been business manager of his school year book, a member of the National Honor society, and salutorian of his class. He also won first place in Ashland county in the state scholarship test held this year. He played in the school orchestra and was active in the Hi-Y organization.

He is studying foreign mission work.

LEADS AD CLINIC

L. J. Ott, Ohio Brass Executive, Heads New York Discussion.

L. J. Ott, advertising manager of the Ohio Brass company, is in New York City this week where he is attending the 17th annual conference of the National Industrial Advertisers' association, which is being held at the Hotel New Yorker.

Ott was one of the men who led clinical discussions yesterday. He talked on the subject of "Performing Data and Photographs—And How to Get Them and How to Use Them."

More than 1,300 members from 18 chapters throughout the United States and Canada are attending the three-day conference which ends tonight.

LAWMAKER'S WIDOW DIES

AMELIA—(AP)—Mrs. Philena P. Kearns, 69, state Republican committee woman and widow of former Congressman Charles C. Kearns, died in her home in this Clermont county village yesterday. A sister survives.

ONE JOB HELD UP, 3 OTHERS SHORT OF MEN

District Chief Says Supply of Help's 'Dried Up' in Richland County.

The march of men back to industry during the past several weeks has caused a labor shortage in Mansfield that today stayed one WPA and threatened the progress of three others in the county.

Private industry, geared up to meet a war buying demand has absorbed laborers to the extent that WPA'S potential labor supply in Richland county is "dried up."

This was the way the situation was sized up today by J. L. Kelley, director of District Six of WPA in Ohio who revealed that the city's $40,000 water development program was not started as scheduled this morning due to the lack of men.

Local WPA officials said yesterday that 169 assignment tickets had gone out to certified workers and that the job was to start today on Woodland road, the first of six streets on which new water mains are to be laid.

The project was not started because not enough men reported for work.

He gave the assurance, however, that the construction work would be started as soon as men were available to place on the job.

"Private industry in Mansfield is absorbing labor to the extent that men are not reporting to WPA jobs," he explained. "Others are leaving the projects to return to industry and it may be some time before the project can be started."

He said three other projects, the county and state road jobs, city streets and sidewalks and the parks rehabilitation work was undermanned due to laborers returning to factories.

"All we can hope to do is speed these jobs to completion so that workers can be transferred to the water development project," Kelley said.

DROPS WORKERS

County Road Department Lays Off 14, Lacks Funds.

Fourteen laborers in the county's highway maintenance department were laid off today, primarily because of lack of funds to pay them, County Engineer Howard C. Sword said.

At the same time, the department's working week was reduced from 40 hours to 35 hours in an economy move, Sword said. The men will work seven hours a day on a five-day week schedule.

Dismissal of the 14 men, most of whom the engineer said were hired last spring for "seasonal" work, will reduce the county's road force to 50 men.

Sword blamed a delay in distribution of auto license funds by the state for the county road department's financial condition. An allocation of $10,000 in gas tax funds enabled the county to meet its highway payroll this week.

SNAKES DO BITE, BOY, 8, LEARNS

Puts Hand on Cage of 17 Rattlesnakes, One Snaps At Him.

WILLARD — David Schwann, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Schwann, had learned today that it is not wise to get too close to a cage of rattlesnakes.

The youth was bitten in the finger by a snake when he placed his hand on the netting in front of a cage in a Celeryville store. He received immediate treatment and is recovering.

Seventeen of the rattlers, caught by gardeners in the swampland near Celeryville, were displayed at the store before they were shipped to Kalamazoo, Mich., where their venom was removed. The reptiles will be used in laboratory work at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

FAIR ENOUGH!

If you think all you read is propaganda, here's some you've never heard about

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Everybody has been saying that we have to be on guard against disguised or insidious propaganda these days, and I will throw in with that. I will say so, too, and I think we are.

You never saw the like of the mail that is received by newspaper editors and trained seals just now, and no doubt, by the radio people, too. A lot of it comes in the form of little tom thumb newspapers, but there are plenty of common mimeographed handouts and quite a few books that look pretty much like regular books. I guess you would have to admit that they really are regular books if it came to a question of that, because a book is a book whether it is propaganda or whatever, for that matter.

Grapes of Wrath is propaganda, and so are the books of Winston Churchill, who can book for you in about the same space of time that it takes a cat to kitten and does so as regularly.

I often find in my mail a little paper dedicated to the unconquerable aspirations of the people of Ethiopia, and this is a curio because all the reporters that I have talked with who were in there, said the Ethiopians were the most abysmal ignoramuses they ever saw, who really didn't give a damn who ruled the country and, far from being up on reading and writing, couldn't even scratch their initials, if any, in the sand with a stick.

Yet this Ethiopian freedom paper is not badly put together and contains a lot of truth, because, no two ways about it, the truth is on the side of the Negus.

Still, I have a suspicion that somebody else, say the British or the Bolos, are putting up for the propaganda, not out of any beautiful sympathy for a people who have been wronged but to needle up a little publicity against Mussolini.

There is a paper plugging the late Loyalist cause in Spain, too, also with a gool deal of truth, and one dealing with China, but I never noticed which side the China paper is for. Another one deals with Japan, and, although I don't bother to read it, I gather that it wants to show that the Japanese have been doing the nice nations of the world a great favor by standing off the Bolos of China.

The Red papers are all propaganda, and it is a pleasure to read them because the various sects hate all the other bolo sects as angrily as they hate Bishop Manning or God. If you want to get the dirt on all of them you don't look to the record of the Dies committee, which is hard reading, but to their own sheets.

If you think I am a Red-baiter, as the Stalin Bolos sometimes suggest, you ought to read what the Trotzky Bolos say about them and vice versa. I guess there is a good deal of truth in what they say about each other, because if there is anything which they should know all about it is Communists.

The New Deal also turns out a right smart bit of propaganda in mimeo handouts, and some of my radio friends tell me that the government also produces platters, or pancakes, which are sent out to radio stations for use at will with a suggestion, as these friends see it, that someone in the administration is going to be terribly disappointed if this or that station doesn't find time to give the stuff a send.

Unions, too, send out publicity, and while some of it is fair and truthful, this matter, like all other propaganda, has a habit of neglecting to mention further truths which would take some of the heat off their grievances and contentions.

Most of the states appropriate money for propaganda, or publicity, and there are any number of leagues, associations, foundations, institutes and so forth which are just publicity offices, ballyhooing isms and promotions or crying boycott against various hunks of our own population and foreign countries.

And, rather oddly, most of the propaganda for Americanism is actually propaganda against Americanism put out by dumb old brigadiers who want to blow off after years of repression or by churchless preachers who try to rouse people to horrible cruelties by telling them that their neighbors have been going around slandering Christ.

You can't depend on any of this material, and I think the daily press does a good job detecting and rejecting. It seems to me that most of the money spent on propaganda is wasted.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Local sidelights on the most colossal tragedy ever unreeled—the one production for which nobody wants screen credit:

Lights slicing through the night sky at a Chinese theater preview—and memories of a similar night years ago when airplanes zoomed overhead bombing the crowds—with gardenias. . . . Hordes of fans cheering movie stars—instead of departing troops. . . . Hordes of humanity confident that the piercing beams from the revolving arcs would reveal nothing deadlier in the air than a high fog. . . .

Headlines. . . . And people who usually think about release dates and Big I's and percentage deals were gasping and dangling on them. . . .

Weeks when movie people abroad, who went there de luxe and super-super, were glad to get a ride—any kind—just so it was pointed west. . . . Days when the only glamour girl they were really interested in was the Lady in New York harbor who carries a torch—but doesn't croon about it. . . .

Days when, practically without precedent, it was actually a tough job to get anybody to talk about motion pictures—because everybody wanted to talk about . . . headlines. . . .

Days when the war-talk became so habitual that the associate producers set ultimatums instead of starting dates; when story conferences were "negotiations"; when plain inter-office memos became "diplomatic notes"; when Garbo could have talked—right out loud and found few takers for her long hidden pearls of wisdom.

A day when Isa Miranda, who has relatives over there, collapsed on a set—from the strain of the war-of-nerves and too much bulletin-flash listening. . . . And David Niven, the Scotsman who went to Sandhurst and was to be called when the British got in, was just one of the actors who paced the halls, waiting, waiting, waiting. . . .

Wonder what Francis Lederer, the peace-advocate and one-time Czech whose country was Munniched, thinks about it all. . . . Days when even the vacant-stare, peroxide-blond chorine I saw today, actually reading the front page instead of the movie chatter and the racing form, can spell D-A-N-Z-I-G—and doesn't think it's what Zorina, Astaire and Eleanor Powell do for a living. . . .

Days of trial and woe for the movie press agents: . . . Imagine how they've felt trying to interest city editors in yarns about Priscilla Lane's favorite food or Ann Sheridan's "oomph" at the moment—when even a synthetic feud (like the B. Davis-M. Hopkins thing for "The Old Maid") doesn't get a nod. . . . And a Hopkins divorce trip to Reno, even accompanied by Kay Francis, matrimony bent, gets a couple of inches of space. . . . Lean pickings. . . .

One day when a p. a. paused at this desk, just long enough to inquire, "How does it feel, fella, to be writing something really important now — like Hollywood stuff?" . . .

Today when—huh? What did that guy say?

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY

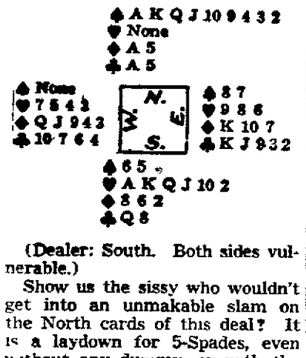
Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T ASK TOO MUCH

EXPECTING to make every contract which you reach by constructive bidding is asking a good deal. In fact, too much. There would be no pleasure in bridge if you knew you were going to make all the contracts you bid. If it happened that way, then what would ever be the sense of playing a hand?

You might as well just lay the cards down after the bidding ends. There is also no sense in partners berating each other for failure to reach the exactly correct contract. There are many deals on which nobody can soundly guess what is possible and what is not.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

Show us the sissy who wouldn't get into an unmakable slam on the North cards of this deal? It is a laydown for 5-Spades, even without any dummy, or with the dummy swept onto the floor or playing against him. And that same dummy, during the bidding, cannot help calling strongly after his original pass.

When this deal came up, South let North initiate the action, which he did with 2-Spades. South answered positively with 3-Hearts, North 3-Spades, South 4-Hearts and then North leaped into 6-Spades. It, of course, was beaten a trick because of the loss of a trick in each minor suit, after East led his spade 8.

Just looking at the deal in an offhand way, it appears impossible for North to make the contract. It is, against the spade lead. But suppose East had not been one of those inveterate trump-lead hounds, against slam contracts. He then would have hated to lead from either minor king, and might have led a heart. In that case, the losers would have been discarded pronto, as the Mexicans say, and a grand slam would have been made. Even a club lead would have produced a small slam

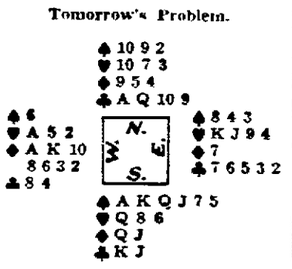
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer. South. East-West vulnerable).

If West had made an absurd double of 3-Spades and led his diamond K followed by the A, how should East play in an effort to defeat the contract?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, September 23.

Despite certain restricting and delaying influences seen among the astral forces, this should be a day of great enterprise and high-pressure activities, with much excitement, initiative and telling crises. In all departments of life matters are accelerated, and involve extremely powerful issues and interests. These promise exceedingly productive and progressive results, whether in business or in purely personal and romantic associations. It might be wise to temper high tension with a degree of prudence, precaution and vigilance.

Those whose birthday it is are assured a year of extremely enterprising, exciting, productive and progressive events, with things moving to swift ,dynamic and hectic culminations, although there may be several tenacious obstacles or delays to be skillfully met. This high tension obtains in business and employment, as well as in romantic, social or domestic adventures, where discretion and vigilance may circumvent intrigues or subtle menaces.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

From somewhere deep within me I summoned the courage to answer him calmly, with no hint of the anger and consternation seething within me.

"I don't know when my father will permit her to go back to New York," I said. "You know that he wants to keep her and Noel here until Jack Leslie is captured, feeling that Leslie will not leave the vicinity of the farm if he knows they are here."

"Yes, yes, I know all that," he said, and there was almost a hint of impatience in his tones. "But I thought perhaps there might have been some development since I saw your father, so that I could have some definite information."

"He has told me nothing," I said, "but I know Jack Leslie has not yet been captured, so I am sure he will not wish Mary to go back."

"Then," he said slowly, "there is only one thing to be done."

"You have very little curiosity," he said after several seconds of silence on my part.

I nerved myself to answer him lightly.

"On the contrary, curiosity is consuming me until I feel like the well-known cat's rival," I told him.

"Ah! yes, the one that Curiosity killed," he said, releasing his sardonic smile. "But I won't inflict such a fate upon you. I'll tell you now what I have planned. I hope you can help me carry it out."

"I hope you know that I am ready to do anything to aid you," I said, and was conscious that my voice and words were ridiculously prim.

"That is what I am counting on, dear lady," he said, "but I am afraid my request will tax your patience and charity to the utmost."

"Do you think your father would permit Mary and yourself to come over to my hotel each day for several hours while she is immured here?" he asked astonishingly.

For a second I could not answer him. What in the world was he planning? But there was but one answer I could give him.

"While the danger from Jack Leslie exists," I said slowly, "I am positive my father will not permit either Mary or Noel to leave the farm house."

He was silent for what seemed to me an eon of time.

"Then," he said at last, "if a very charming feminine Mahomet cannot go to the mountain, then the mountain must come to the said feminine Mahomet."

Then I found voice for my suppressed question.

"What do you mean?" I asked.

"I mean," he said slowly, "that I must ask your permission to bring the cast of your play to the farm house each day for rehearsals."

Church Organizations Head List of Thursday Activities

CHURCH activities filled a goodly part of yesterday's calendar as many of the women in the city attended guild and circle meetings. Mrs. W. R. King presided during the meeting of the Women's guild of the First Presbyterian church when Mrs. J. B. Lindley led the devotions.

Mrs. D. O. Meese, chairman of Circle Five, introduced Mrs. Russell Gimbel who spoke on the Friendly House. Mrs. C. O. Anglin sang, and Rev. David N. Roller spoke briefly. Tea was served at the close of the meeting with Mrs. John Burns and Mrs. Lucy Williams presiding at the table.

The next meeting will be Oct. 19 with members of Circle One conducting the program in the church parlors.

A back to school kid party was the social event for the St. Paul Thursday Nighters last evening at the church parlors. Balloons, favors and lollipops decorated the tables at which a covered-dish dinner was served. After hearing the Major Bowes Amateur Hour broadcast honoring Mansfield, the group played games.

Winners were Miss Olga Luich and Joseph Morganstern. Arrangements were in charge of the Misses Louise Aungst, Ruth Bollman, Mary Margaret Harden and Ann Pasheilich. The next meeting will be another covered-dish at the church Oct. 19. Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thatcher are in charge.

Yesterday was circle day for members of the First Methodist church and Mrs. D. W. DeYarmon headed the list by entertaining Circle One at her home, 466 Marion avenue. There were 23 present when the new officers, Mrs. S. F. Little, president; Mrs. R. L. Fox, secretary, and Mrs. J. W. Galbraith, treasurer, presided.

During the business session plans were made to hold a rummage sale Oct. 20 and 21. The next meeting will be Oct. 19 with Mrs. W. C. Boling, 335 South Diamond street.

Mrs. Glenn Griswold, 54 Dawson avenue, assisted by Mrs. Ella Frasher, Mrs. Anna Rice and Mrs. H. K. Boughton, was hostess yesterday to 15 members of Circle Two. Mrs. Blaine Johnson conducted the business meeting and Mrs. M. L. Boyer was in charge of the devotional period.

Mrs. Fred Nixon, 42 Sturges avenue entertained 17 members and one guest, Mrs. Sue Fuller, of Circle Five. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nixon assisted by Mrs. C. M. Chatlain and Mrs. A. C. Forsyth.

Officers installed by Mrs. Forsyth were Mrs. Nixon, president; Mrs. Clarence Lisle, vice-president; Mrs. Paul Bush, secretary, and Mrs. Denny Skelton, treasurer. Mrs. E. E. Poole led the devotions. Mrs. E. G. Corwin will entertain at her home, 138 West Second street, Oct. 19.

New officers of Circle Four of the First Methodist church were installed during a meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. B. Endly, 371 Sherman place. Mrs. Paul Young, Mrs. E. E. Quick and Mrs. Frank Tingley were the associate hostesses.

Mrs. D. L. Divelviss assumed her duties as president of the group, with Mrs. O. G. Place assisting as vice-president. The new circle secretary is Mrs. Guy Lautsbaugh, and the treasurer is Mrs. W. R. Burkhart. Mrs. Eugene Linham has been chosen floral treasurer.

There were 21 members and two guests in attendance at yesterday's meeting. Mrs. J. Leo Hartmann read the devotions. The next regular meeting of the circle will be an event of Oct. 19 at the home of Mrs. George Hout, 63 Sturges avenue.

CHANGE DATE.

The meeting of the Joan of Arc circle, Daughters of Isabella, which was set for Sept. 26, has been advanced to Monday, Oct. 2 in the club rooms. This will be a social.

BUSINESS WOMEN GET FALL SCHEDULE OUT

Plans for National Celebration; Holiday Parties, Public Relations Dinner Next Month Announced to Members.

WITH the first meeting of the season behind them, and preparations for the local celebration of national business women's week ahead of them, members of the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's club have an extremely heavy program in view. On Oct. 11 the club will have a public relations dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel with a special speaker and guest night program in celebration of the business women's week from Oct. 8 to 14.

The program is in charge of Lena Colgan, Rachel Secrest, Clara Miller, Wilhelmene Cahall and Mabel Torrence. Georgiana Chidsey, Mary Kolb, Florence Young and Ethel Wirts are on the hospitality committee.

Regular meetings are held every second Wednesday of the month with Mrs. Marvel Cowell, president, in charge. Throughout the nation this winter, women belonging to clubs affiliated with the national federation will study the general topic: "Women in Democracy."

During the year they will have various programs including such topics as "Business and Government Grow Up In Our Town and in Our Country," "Democracy's Attempt to Balance Power," "Our Economic Opportunity in a Democracy," "Meeting Human Needs in a Democracy" and "We the People."

In December the club will have a special Christmas program with Minnie Laudon, Irma Augustine, Julia BeVier, Margaret Sellick, Marie Weil, Bertha Reinewald, Emma Reinewald, Ruth Wiseman and Lois MacKellar in charge. The local organization will celebrate its 16th birthday in March, and in June a spring party will be held.

Those on the birthday dinner committees are Gertrude Kaufman, Estella Arras, Fanny Ray, Bess Wickert, Heeln Stuhldreher, Mary Kerr, Mary Eggert, Adeline Underwood, Beatrice Brewer, Teresa Peiffer.

In June Dorotha Garver, Sue Kozik, Helen Herring, Loretta Zeller, Roma Prosser, Rachel Denzler, Loretta Derr and Annabel Shanniberger will be in charge.

Informally Speaking...

I HOPE you saw Irene Holcombe Parks while she was in town for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Merton Holcombe, this week. . . . She has recovered completely from the serious fall she had this summer, and the evening I saw her, she looked especially lovely in a black ensemble trimmed with bright red to compliment her dark hair and fair skin. . . . Next Tuesday, she and her husband, George, are leaving Cleveland (where they've been living for quite some time now) to go to Bridgeport, Conn., to make their home—George has been transferred there by the General Electric company, by whom he is employed. . . . Because both she and George have relatives in the east, Irene doesn't think they'll get too homesick, but already they're looking forward to a trip home at Christmas time.

Speaking of former Mansfielders, Janet and Wilma Kegg are here from New York City now for a visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. G. Kegg—Janet is planning to go back east this week-end, but Wilma will remain here a few days longer. . . . And perhaps many of you remember Eleanor Huber—she was in Mansfield recently visiting with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Wilkinson—she was Mary Huber before her marriage. . . . Eleanor lives in Akron now. . . . Robert Nye's recent house guest was Paul Oberlin—another former Mansfielder, who now lives in Washington, D. C., where he attends George Washington university.

More than likely you recall that William Kemper went to Newport, R. I., several weeks ago to join the U. S. navy.—Well, according to word just received by his mother, Mrs. Rex Boylan, William is now serving a routine period of strict training at the naval station in Newport—for the next three weeks he will not be permitted to leave the station or receive any visitors. . . . He is planning to come home for a ten days' visit about the middle of December.

FRANCIS W. PROCTOR, head of the music department at Hiram college, has just announced the members of the college a capella choir which includes 45 voices. . . . And a Mansfield girl has been selected for membership in the choir—she is Eleanor Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dale Wilcox. . . . The choir has a concert tour annually—so since we Mansfielders have a particular interest in the group now, we'll hope they come here for a sing this season.

Here's some news of another Mansfield college student. . . . Merle Abele, you probably recall, went down to Ohio university as a freshman about two weeks ago, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Abele, have just received word of her pledging to Alpha Delta Pi sorority on the college campus.

AND there are lots of other collegians who have just left for their respective schools. . . . Elaine Downs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Downs, is now at Kent State, where she's serving as secretary of Alpha Sigma Alpha, national education sorority, and is a member of the sophomore class. . . . Jane Kelley, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kelley, has resumed her studies at Mary Grove college in Detroit, Mich. . . . this is her last year there. . . . Dr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Schiller bid goodbye to their daughter, Elaine, this week when she left for Greensburg, Pa., to continue her studies at Seton Hall, a girls' school.

As for the young men of Mansfield . . . Robert Moorhead has just entered the University of Virginia at Charlottesville as a freshman. . . . His parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Moorhead, drove him down recently by way of the Skyline drive. . . . Richard Walter has gone to Notre Dame, Ind., where he's a student at Notre Dame university—Dick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Walter on Third street.

* * *

LATE September vacationers are Beatrice Brewer and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brewer, who are taking an eastern and southern motor trip, which includes Gettysburg and the Skyline drive. . . . Beatrice lives here, but her parents are from Harpster, you know.

Jeanne Gale To Marry Oct. 14 At St. Peter's

The date of the marriage of Miss Jeanne Gale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gale, 310 West Fourth street, to Ralph Lang, Zanesville, was announced last night at a family party given by Mrs. Gale and her daughter, Marjorie. The evening was spent socially with bridge awards going to Mrs. Gladys Gale and Mrs. E. R. Speck.

Miss Gale and Mr. Lang will be married Oct. 14 at the parsonage of St. Peter's Catholic church at 10:30 a. m. They will make their home in Zanesville where Mr. Lang operates a restaurant. Miss Gale attended Mansfield Senior high school, and has been employed at the Richland Trust company.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

County Conclave Will Be Opened Tuesday to Public

All sessions of the county convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, which will be held Sept. 26 at the First Methodist church, will be open to the public, Mrs. F. O. Haldeman, member of the Frances Willard chapter, announced today. The meetings will begin at 1:30 p. m. and last through the evening.

Business and reports of the chapters will be taken up first, with a paper on the life of Frances Willard and a musical program in the afternoon. A covered-dish dinner will be served promptly at 6 o'clock.

During the evening a Negro women's octette will sing spirituals, the Shelby chapter will give a play, and Mrs. Hulit, Shelby, will speak. Mrs. W. C. Neibarger, county president, will be in charge of the sessions which will be attended by members of the Frances Willard, Iota Sigma, Shelby and Butler chapters.

Fete Mrs. James at Linen Shower

The former Miss Arlene Bauman, who became Mrs. Richard James May 26 at Greenup, Ky., was feted last night at the home of Miss Margaret Finney, 224 South Mulberry street, with a linen shower. Miss Virginia Williams was associate hostess.

Bridge was played at two tables with prizes going to Miss Kay Glessner and Miss Marguerite Boyer. A mixed floral bouquet centered the long table at which refreshments were served. A gift of linen was presented the honoree by the hostesses.

Mrs. James is the daughter of Mrs. Gladys Bauman, 144 Bartley avenue, and Mr. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. James, Zediker apartments. The pair is now at home at 50 Vennum avenue.

Mansfield Women Go To Conference This Week

Mrs. C. V. Coe, Mrs. C. G. Critchfield, Mrs. L. F. Rondel, Mrs. George Hout, Mrs. R. L. Fox, Mrs. Hugh Clark, Mrs. C. A. Crawford, Mrs. L. D. Bower and Mrs. R. W. James, women from First and Central Methodist churches, attended the two-day convention of the Women's Home Missionary society of the North East Ohio conference at Martins Ferry Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss Jean Oram of Cleveland and P. Gordon Gould, native of Alaska who attended one of the Methodist mission schools, were speakers on the two-day program.

The young woman pictured above is Mrs. Argale Paul, who was Miss Irene Boniece before her marriage in Cleveland last Saturday afternoon. She and her husband will reside at 205 Chilton avenue upon the completion of their new home about Oct. 1.

Security Bond Party Last Event Honoring Josephine Henness

MISS JOSEPHINE HENNESS and the guests at a spinster party in her honor were really in the money yesterday evening, because the hostesses, Miss Dorothy Yauger and Miss Marianna Crips, called the affair a "security bond" party. Miss Yauger and Miss Crips, who is a cousin of Miss Henness from Chicago, Ill., will be members of her bridal party tomorrow morning when she becomes the bride of John K. Chatlian of Chicago. The ceremony will be performed at 11:45 o'clock before the altar of the Central Methodist church.

Last night's party was a dessert-bridge, and the luncheon course was served at one long table, which was decorated with yellow, orange and green appointments. A large security bond centered the table, the guests' place cards were written on fake dollar bills, and their favors were dime banks.

The bridge tallies and score pads were also made from fake money. The game was in play at four tables, and prizes were won by Mrs. Ann Schriedt and Mrs. Earl Herrick, who gave their awards to the honoree.

The hostesses then gave Miss Henness imitation bonds and coupons, which directed her to the hiding places of the personal shower gifts from the guests. The Misses Yauger and Crips presented the honoree with wedding gifts.

TO WED TOMORROW.

Miss Florence Ayers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Ayers, Ashland road, will become the bride of James Cartwright of Mt. Vernon, tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army auditorium. Major D. R. Brown will perform the ceremony and Miss Madalyn Leary and Philip Brumm will attend the couple. They will reside in Mt. Vernon.

BRIDGE PARTY OPENS JOAN OF ARC SEASON

Members Have First Function at Mansfield-Leland Hotel; Varied Program Scheduled for Winter Months.

PINK AND WHITE is the usual description of a baby's skin, but it also describes the dainty booklets which were distributed last night to members of the Joan of Arc Study club when they held their opening meeting in the form of a buffet bridge party at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

During the short business meeting which was conducted by Mrs. Verba Kanary, president and hostess for the party, Mrs. G. E. Wehinger, program chairman, distributed the books which are made of a white, ribbon tied cover with pink pages.

Prizes were presented to Mrs. Dwight Maxwell, Miss Marie Hecht, Mrs. Kanary and Mrs. Edward Marshall, guest of the club. Garden flowers decorated the buffet table.

Members will meet Oct. 19 with Mrs. Harry Kurrich, West Second street.

Study plans for the year offer an interesting variety of topics including book reviews, papers on Russia, St. Thomas Aquinas, Pope Pius XII, women in the hall of fame, the Mormons, the history of paper making and early American furniture.

The second social function of the year will be a Christmas luncheon Dec. 21 at the Susie Janis home with Miss Mary Rizzo and Mrs. Anna Mae Weakland as hostesses. In April the club will elect new officers and the installation services will be held in June.

Other officers of the club are Mrs. Wehinger, vice-president; Miss Marie Kalbfleisch, recording secretary, and Miss Rizzo, treasurer. Miss Hecht and Mrs. Maxwell are members of the program committee.
